Fire asks for community backing of meals program

by GLORIA DAVIS

Blair Fire, volunteer coordinator of the home delivery meals program operating in Antioch and Antioch Twp. since 1975, wants to change the way the program operates with the community's help.

At present, 17 disabled people over 60 living in the village and 13 in the township receive a hot meal every noon delivered to their residence from Monday through Friday through the program now operating under a federal grant through Catholic Charities.

"We've never missed a meal," says Fire.

The meals come from Quality Catering, Lake Villa, are delivered to the senior center and 14 volunteers take turns delivering the meals with no compensation whatsoever.

Two volunteers work together, spending a week each working out of St. Peters, St. Stephens, the United Methodist Church of Antioch and St. Ignatius.

Fire is allotted no money at all to cover the administration of the program, mailing, phone calls, insurance etc.

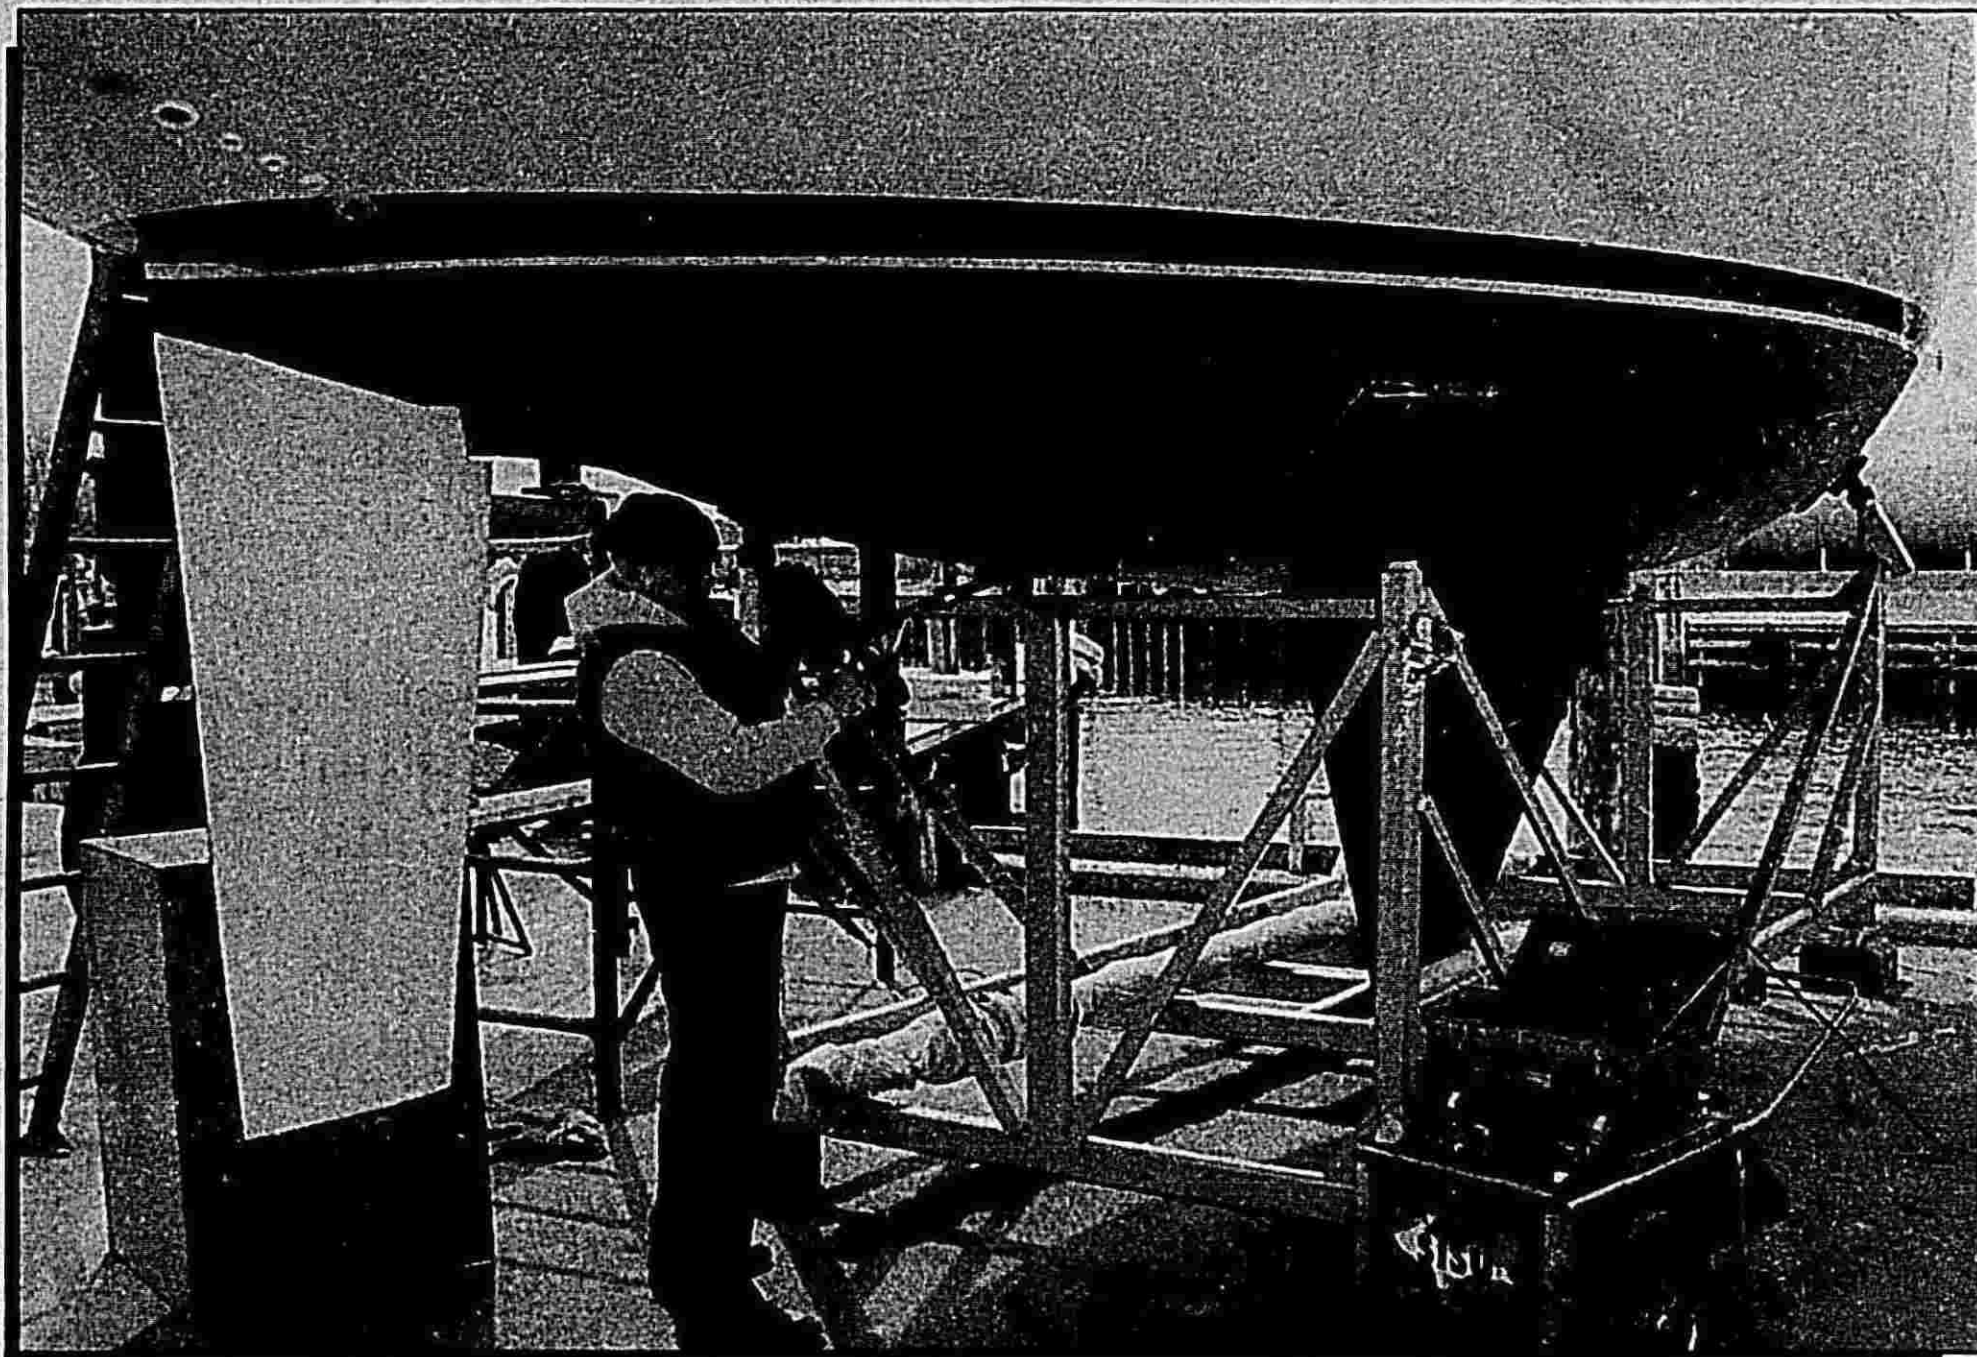

This is not necessarily a free meal program, the asking price per meal is $2.50 and clients who can pay, do.

Fire would like to see the program become an independent one operating with others like the telecare and free transportation programs as it did so successfully at the United Methodist Church under the Chain O'Lakes senior Services before fund cutting came in 1986.

"Then people called us if they needed help, they don't now. It's a matter of money, federal money is not stable since fund cutting began," adds Fire.

Having already asked the township for monetary aid to operate independently to no avail, Fire would like to see more churches and organizations and municipalities come to the meals program's aid, suggesting permanent monetary pledges.

He asks, "What about the disabled people in the area under 60 years old and what about all of these people the other two days a week," as part of his expansion ideas where shut-ins can get a visit that brings a nutritious hot meal daily.

Time out for 'launch'

From Chain O'Lakes-Fox River water way to Lake Michigan, from inland lakes to car-top boaters, it's time for spring launching. Melvin Hall, electronics technician, installs new gear on large sailboat at Waukegan Harbor. With area marinas reporting brisk sales for 1988, boating activity is expected to be more intense than ever. One change this season will be no tolerance for boating under the influence of alcohol. See editorial page for comment.—Photo by John Doetsch.

Waterways agency readies for season

Employees of the Chain-O-Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency have spent this cold winter repairing and rehabbing buoys and other waterway equipment in whatever fields helpful neighbors donated.

Although it looks as if there may not be flooding this spring, the agency has three boats ready for emergencies. John Soffietti, agency chairman, lauded their efforts in overcoming these difficulties.

Before next winter, Soffietti said, they hope to have better working conditions. They have leased five acres at the McHenry Dam from the Illinois Dept. of Conservation on which the agency will build a maintenance garage.

The building will include an indoor workshop for reconditioning the buoys, boats and other equipment. It also will store the agency's boats and the dredge together in one place, beginning when they are removed from the water

To meet the new state requirement that police and emergency vehicle lights be blue instead of red, all three agency boats now have flashing blue lights on top. Of course, they also still have the traditional (federally required) navigation running lights, showing red on the port (left) and green on the starboard (right) side of the bow, and a white light atop the mast.

Despite difficult working conditions, the agency has cleaned up its 675 buoys and installed orange reflector tape to make them more visible. To improve waterways safety they also are adding 20-25 lighted buoys on the lower Fox River in the dark areas with slow bends between the McHenry and Algonquin dams.

High intensity white bulbs that are visible for one mile and flash 60 times per minute (instead of the previous 30) will mark the centerline of navigational channels. These will be placed at the mouth of channels between lakes in the chain, such as to and from Grass Lake.

Who'll be the grandest gal in Antioch's Easter Parade?

Antioch Parks and Recreation is sponsoring the annual Easter Parade, set to start at Antioch High School at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 2, winding its way down Main St. (Rte. 83).

The parade will be filled with floats and marchers from local organizations and businesses.

The parks department has also planned an Easter Egg Hunt for area children to take place right after the parade, in the parking lot adjacent to the village water tower, near Santa's Castle.

Sheriff Robert 'Mickey' Babcox---1928-1988

From political boy wonder to GOP Godfather

by BILL SCHROEDER

Death after a long illness closed out the remarkable career of Lake County Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox, who crammed more political experience and living-into one life time than 10 normal persons.

Mickey was loved and he was hated, sometimes at the same time by the people who knew him best. He was popular, respected, revered, feared, disappointing, pitied, praised, admired, criticized, enigmatic, reckless, a litany of descriptions of a colorful public figure.

Ready for fun

One of Lake County's most enduring political figures, Sheriff Robert 'Mickey' Babcox savored the fun of being a public figure. He maintained a sense of humor despite ups and downs. Beribboned and wearing a top hat, he 'appeared' as ambassador to Luxembourg during hijinks at Antioch Chamber of Commerce dinner. Yes, chap wearing the monicle is Sheriff Babcox.

No one before him entered public life as "the Boy Wonder of Republican politics" and went out as the Godfather of the Lake County GOP.

He was quite a guy.

Mickey was a born leader. Family and friends knew it when he was a kid in Gurnee. Schoolmates and adults could tell it when he was a sports star in football and basketball at Warren High. When tapped by former State Rep. W.J. Murphy and the late Eugene T. Daly in 1952 to run for coroner as an organization foe Mick took to politics like a duck to water. People loved him and he was elected easily at age 24, the youngest county official in Lake County history.

It was ironic that he entered politics as an anti-establishment and at the time of his death Monday night, March 21, at age 60 he WAS the establishment.

Mickey Babcox knew the taste of victory and he knew the taste of defeat. Young Republicans and independents itched for Mick in 1962 to take on the sheriff's office and break the stranglehold of the "good old boys" on the office. Mick's first shot at sheriff produced the "Three Rats Caper" where his characterization of three entrenched politicians delighted supporters, infuriated opponents, mystified the unknowing and probably sealed his defeat. He withdrew to avoid a party squabble against Charles Larson.

Political life in Lake County wasn't the same when Mickey left the coroner's office, defeated in the primary in 1964 after three terms by Orville "Pat" Clavey, after compiling an enviable record that brought national attention to Lake County because of his advancements in forensics, the science of body identification.

Only close friends kept in touch with him during a series of business adventures such as the sand and gravel concessionaire at Chain O' Lake State Park and a Grass Lake Resort he operated with his wife, Arden, and three children.

The late Harry Robin, a respected west Lake County political leader and force on the County Board, probably was more responsible for Mickey's political revival than anyone after the once-popular politician's business endeavors languished. Robin encouraged Babcox to start anew by running for an opening for coroner. Through a tremendous personal effort involving countless hours of door-to-door campaigning, Mickey regained the office in 1978, returning to the life he loved.

The appetite for sheriff never left Mickey. In 1982 Babcox, a former deputy, challenged scandal tainted sheriff Tom, and won the primary. Mickey took over an office rocked by calamity, scandal and rock-bottom morale, quickly restoring it to professionalism and respectability with a brilliant political move. He named his

Village board OK's new construction ordinances

by GLORIA DAVIS

The passing of some new ordinances, most of them having to do with new construction coming into the village, was on the top of the list at the Antioch Village Board meeting on Monday.

The board approved an ordinance requiring a certain amount of masonry to run adjacent to the foundation on multi-unit buildings planned to have more than three units.

An ordinance instituting a 5 percent motel tax was also passed, proceeds to go toward furthering tourism and recreation in the village.

Another ordinance approved requires that an owner of a building already containing two or more apartments, who plans to expand that building, must bring those existing apartments up to village building codes before the expansion will be allowed.

In the same vein, the board OK'ed the forwarding of a village petition to both the plan commission and the zone board asking for the elimination of the building of apartments over commercial buildings in the future.

In other business the board:

— set a public zoning hearing for 7:30 p.m., on Wednesday, April 17, at the village hall, on the construction of a Burger King restaurant on the site of the Liddle vegetable stand on the south side of Rte. 173, just past the Rte. 83 intersection.

— set Easter Seal Tag Day for a 24-hour period on May 20-21.

— heard that the construction of the off-site sewer and water lines, to be run down Depot St. for the Pine Hill Lake subdivision, is due to start immediately.

ACHS spends $19,975 for asbestos plan, inspection

At its last regular meeting, the Antioch High School Board of Education accepted the low bid of $19,975 from Asbestos Project Management for performing the required inspection of the school and preparing a management plan that conforms with the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and Ill. Dept. of Public Health regulations.

After reporting to the board that 85 percent of the seniors applying for acceptance at the University of Illinois had been accepted, Principal Art Blecke reported on the summer school session that will start on June 16 and end on July 29. The tuition for the summer session will be the same as last year, $50 per semester credit. Blecke reminded the board that the tuition is all that the school receives to support the summer session since no financial aid from state or local taxes goes towards funding summer school.

In other business, the board approved the filing for a federal grant of $20,915 for the continuation of the career exploration program which provides work experience and classroom instruction for students under 16 who need additional support in adjusting to high school.

The board also accepted the application of ASSE International Exchange Student Michael Faber from West Germany who will participate in the program's inbound program during the next school year.

A graduation date of 2 p.m., on Sunday, June 5 was set.

Dir. of Pupil Personnel Services Peter Pekkarinen told the board that from enrollment request for next year already received, it looks like the total school enrollment at ACHS will stay about the same for next year, at approximately 1,700 students.

Letter To The Editor

School referendum

Editor:

We would like to start our letter off with a "Thank you" and expand from there.

We both wrote letters to the editor prior to the March 15 primary election.

In our previous letters, we both stated it had been 14 years since Grass Lake School Dist. 36 had its last increase in the education fund tax rate. We urged people, both parent and non-parent, that their support was needed on this issue at the polls.

With the election now behind us the bad news is the referendum was defeated. The good news is it was defeated by only two votes.

We would like to personally thank each and every one of the 294 people who came out in support of the education fund referendum. If the referendum goes to ballot again, we are asking these same people to please support it again.

We are also asking those who did not support it to reconsider their stand on this issue. Once again we urge voters to address their questions and concerns to the school or school board either in person or in writing before making a decision at that time.

In closing, we'd like to say that even though the referendum was defeated, the large turn out of voters on March 15 speaks well of our community. Voting is democracy in action. Therefore anyone who votes should be praised.

Our personal thanks, once again to each and everyone of the people who supported the referendum. The louseness of the vote is positive proof that every vote is definitely needed and does make a difference.

Long lacks official notice on lawsuit

As of press time, Antioch's Mayor Ray Toft had yet to be served with a notice of the lawsuit filed by Antioch Atty. Robert Long in the name of the village because of the use of a village mailing permit to mail a private endorsement of Toft's for the candidacy of Jim Fields and Fred Popp for the Lake County Board.

Toft has been on vacation in Florida since he gave the endorsement to Biller Press to print and mail.

Biller Press has since taken full responsibility for "the mistake" in using the permit.

Long says that he has not received any official answer to the lawsuit. He has heard Toft's reaction to the suit and Biller Press's answer from the media.

Though Biller did pay the mailing cost of .083 per letter in a mailing of approximately 7,000 letters, the fact that a village permit was used for private business remains and that is a violation of the law.

Norman Biller, press owner, did say that his company should have procured a separate permit.

Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz, because of pending legal complications, returned a check from Biller, received after the suit was filed, for $100, the cost of a mailing permit ($50 annual fee - $50 for the permit.)

ACHS nominates Parkhurst

Antioch Community High School Dist. 117 has placed the name of Brandon Lee Parkhurst in nomination for the Trustees Merit Scholarship Award sponsored by the College of Lake County.

The scholarship covers full tuition, activity and lab fees for two semesters during the 1988-89 school year to students enrolled in 12 or more college credit hours each semester.

Parkhurst, a senior, is a member of the Antioch High School chapter of the National Honor Society. He has been actively involved in athletics during his high school career, having served as captain of the varsity wrestling team.

Nominate Duetsch for scholarship

Antioch Community High School has nominated Richard Duetsch for the W.C. Petty Scholarship Program sponsored by the College of Lake County.

The scholarship competition will include nominees from each of the high schools in Lake County. The award is to be used for tuition and fees for the 1988-89 school year. Duetsch is an honor student planning to major in accounting.

Spronk medal winner

On Feb. 20, the Antioch Community High School JETS Team (Junior Engineering Technological Society) participated in the annual competition at the College of Lake County. Baker drops assault charges against Brown and O'Connell

Robert Baker, formerly of Lake Villa, now of Kenosha, requested that the Lake County States Attorney's office drop the charges of aggravated battery he had filed against Larry Brown and Arthur O'Connell, both of Twin Lakes.

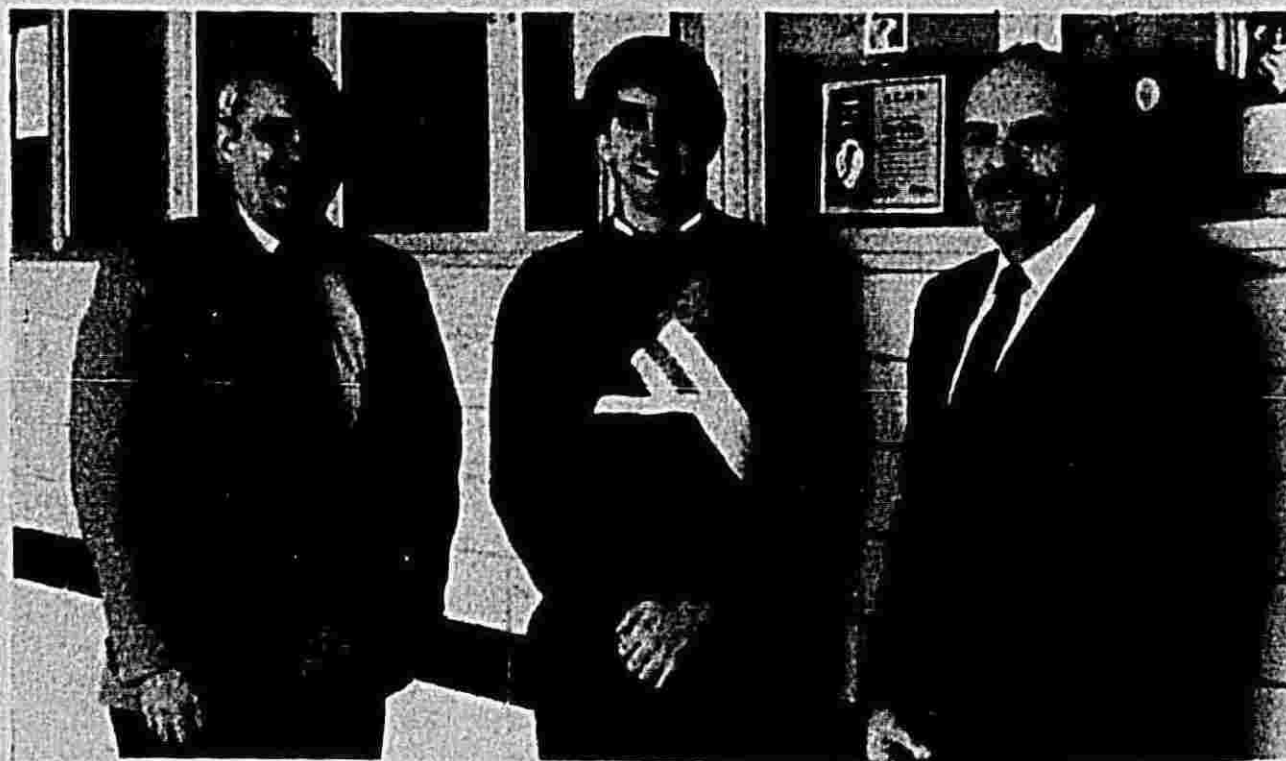

The charges were filed after Baker and an Antioch man were beaten and stabbed (Baker critically) a year ago on Wilmet Rd.

According to police investigating the very bloody incident, both victims and the three men later arrested for the crime, (Danny Fisher, Twin Lakes found innocent in an earlier jury trial), the incident was thought to be drug related. All involved had left a bar in Fox Lake a short time before the stabbing occurred.

Antioch Youth Baseball has a couple dates for you to keep in mind for after spring-break. They will hold clinics to help teach the youngsters the fundamentals of baseball on April 4 and 5. On April 4 from 7 to 8:30 p.m., girls nine to 12 years will meet at Emmons School while boys and girls seven to eight years old will meet at W.C. Petty School. On April 5 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. boys age nine to 11 will meet at W.C. Petty School. Participants need to bring their baseball or softball gloves. If your child is not registered for the program, they may attend the clinics and sign up at that time.

Antioch Upper Grade School Wrestling Coach Steve Alberts reports that his team did not place at the state tour-

Said Alberts, "From what we started with, Steve Redman and I are extremely pleased with the boys. We didn't realize just how good our team was."

Congratulations coaches and boys on a super year!! Alberts, however, has another worry. Right now in his physical education classes one out of every five students is 10 pounds or more overweight, some severely, and they are unable to keep up with their leaner peers. Some are unable to compete at all.

He says, "Ten years ago there would be only one such student in a class in this category."

Reconsider Neal leadership

A lot of people are feeling better about their county government now that the proposal to switch to executive form of government in Lake County has been soundly thrashed. We feel good about the outcome not only because of our efforts to help defeat something considered wrong for Lake County, but also because the campaign enabled citizens to get better acquainted with their local government. The beneficial side of the exercise in democracy was that the story of how really well Lake County is governed by basically well meaning electors working with dedicated and capable professionals got to be told.

We weren't impressed at all with the fact that while Lake County voters rejected county executive two to one, voters of Will County adopted the untested and constitutionally clouded system by a narrow vote of 24,833 to 24,111. Not by coincidence, the Will County effort was spearheaded by a county Republican chairman bent on consolidating personal power. The Will County GOP boss, John Annerino, came out a winner, while his counterpart in Lake County, controversial Robert "Bob" Neal, suffered both a party and personal defeat.

Personalities aside, the lop-sided Lake County vote indicated a whole lot more of the electorate than originally thought cares about the form of county government. More important, they now know a lot more about how and who runs the County Board. They also know that the system is fragile and vulnerable, particularly to the evils of bossism and patronage normally associated with Cook County. We were concerned about the tactics employed by Neal and more than a little frightened by some of the supporters he and his cohorts mustered to back the ill-fated venture. We hope the Neal clique got the message.

In summary, Republicans can well be advised to reconsider what kind of leadership they've been getting under Bob Neal. It is one thing to have a hard line "giv'em hell" county chief fanning partisan fires for a political party. It is quite another thing to have a "slap leather" type leader itching to take over an entire county.

An act of prudence

A decision by Lake Zurich councilmen to budget $8,000 for a bullet-proof protective screen caught the fancy of editors around the nation because the action was reported on news wires. Chicago media pundits tittered that neighboring officials were reacting with amusement.

Editorial clucking aside, we hasten to add that Lake Zurich village trustees are dead serious. As one board member paused to reflect, "It's pretty cheap insurance." Insurance for what? Obviously, insurance against rash acts by angered citizens.

Has grassroots government gotten to the point where elected officials fear for their safety? Sadly, we have to admit that the answer is yes. While Lake Zurich council members may be open to criticism for being over precautionary, more and more villages are having uniformed officers assigned at village meetings for any eventuality. Americans have a propensity for violence. A whole generation of citizens has grown up on a television diet of sudden, violent action to solve any kind of problem. Consider the required security for the President and cabinet level officials, exemplified at close hand again when Vice President Bush visited Lake County a few weeks ago. In that context, Lake Zurich officials only are acting prudently.

Advancing boating safety

Boating and drinking don't mix in Illinois anymore. In what is believed to be the first sentence under a new law making operation of a boat while intoxicated a felony, an Antioch man was sentenced by Judge William D. Block in Lake County Circuit Court.

Timothy Palm, 24, admitted that he was under the influence of alcohol when his powerboat killed another boater in Lake Marie last summer.

Judge Block imposed a sentencing of 30 days in jail and placed Palm on 30 months' probation. He also stipulated that Palm not leave his home for six months after the jail sentence except for work and not to do any boating during his probation. Palm also was ordered to pay more than $4,600 funeral costs for the victim of the boat crash and do 150 hours of community service.

A number of the persons in Judge Block's courtroom thought the sentence was too lenient. That's a matter of personal opinion. What is important is the message that the Palm case will send throughout the state: Don't drink and drive a boat!

The crackdown on motorists to reduce driving while under the influence has produced a new species of motorist, the designated driver. We hope that practice is picked up by boaters in our area this summer. With designated captains at the helm of party boats, conditions on the water will be a lot safer and there shouldn't be any lessening in the fun of boating.

Dangerous 'mischief'

Every so often Illinois voters, especially Republicans, have a bent for mischief. They cross over in the primary to cause problems for the Democrats. It's a stupid and reckless game. GOP voters did it again March 15 for the sole purpose of voting against Jesse Jackson.

There was evidence in Lake County, particularly in some Grant Township precincts, on Republican voters pulling Democratic ballots to vote against Jackson. More than a few experts pointed to mischief voting as the reason for Sen. Paul Simon's victory for President in the Democrat primary.

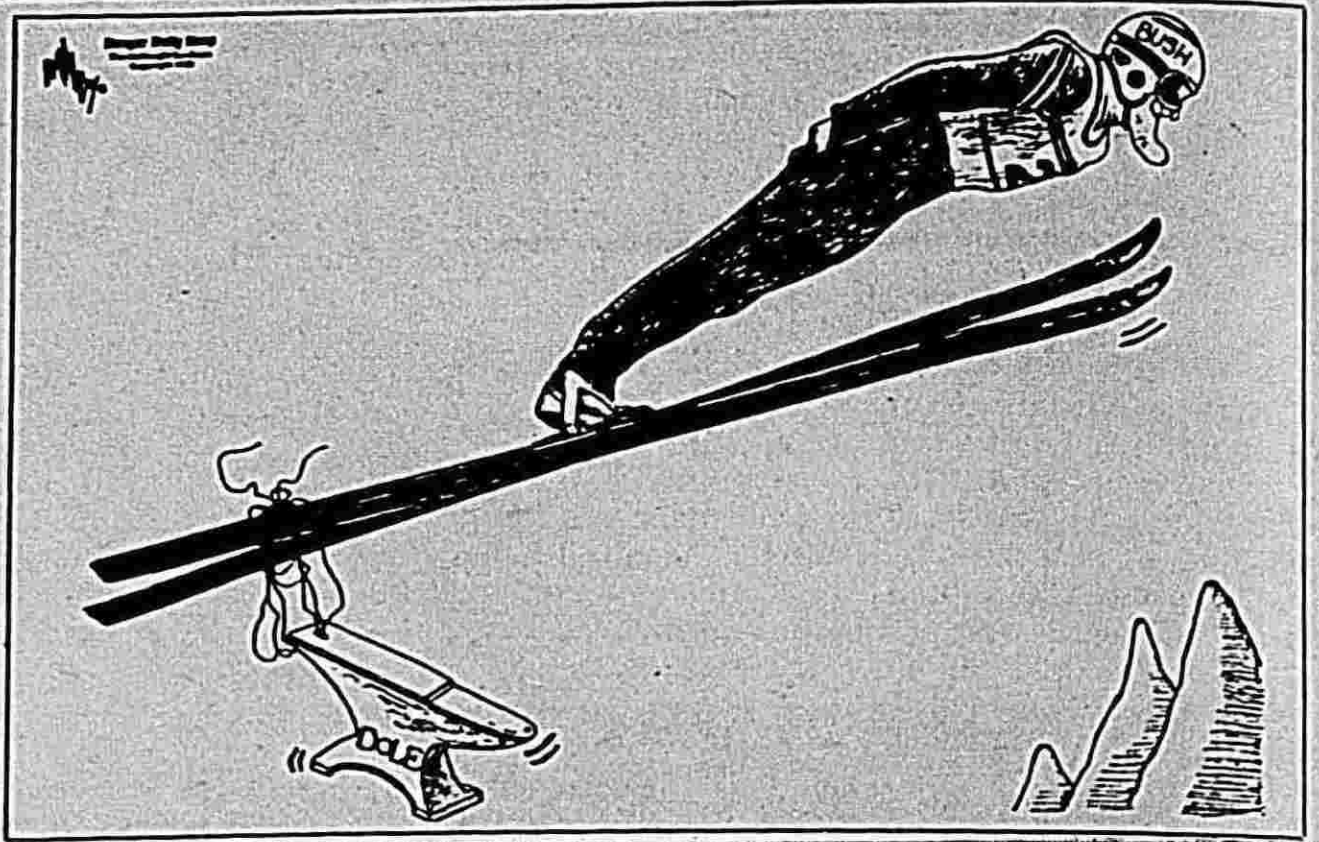

In Main Township, suburban Cook County, GOP leaders pointed to the loss of about 4,000 votes due to persons taking ballots to vote for Simon. Elsewhere in Cook County there was evidence of a marked anti-Jackson sentiment that swept voters into the Democratic primary.

A decade ago, Illinois got one of its worst governors in history, Daniel Walker, because of mischief voting in the primary by Republicans. Walker challenged the popular and powerful Michael J. Howlett, a machine candidate. Many GOP voters reasoned that Walker would be easy to beat in November so they crossed over to vote for Walker. Only Walker crossed up the cross overs and won in an upset in the general election, setting the stage for four disastrous years in Springfield.

The ease in Illinois with which voters can change parties in the primary always leaves the door open for mischief voting. We preferred the old way when primary elections were true party functions. The present system is called an open primary. The former, closed primary was better in our opinion because it ruled against cross overs.

We hope Republicans won't rue the day they crossed over to vote against Jesse as they did in the Walker debacle.

Family pushes northward, finds new home

by BILL SCHROEDER

Urban redevelopment takes all forms. Even a hayride business can be affected. That was the case of the Kelly family of Prairie View. The Kellys have found a new home in Wadsworth. Redevelopment isn't all tearing down old buildings to make way for glitzy new high rises.

The Kellys became a landmark on Rte. 22 for their horsedrawn hayrides and sleighrides. They offered pony rides and there was a "party barn" on the premises. If you've driven down Rte. 22 lately between Lincolnshire and Lake Zurich you know what's happened. The open country has disappeared, replaced by residential and commercial development.

"Fortunately, we've found a lovely place in Wadsworth, right on Rte. 41, across from Jonathan Orchards and the Lake County Forest Preserve," reported Mike Kelly. The family is now putting the final touches on new facilities and awaiting the spring arrival of a new crop of offspring produced by their menagerie of goats, lambs, rabbits, chickens and ducks.

Arrival of the Kellys in the northern sector of Lake County adds to the growing list of tourist attractions and recreational businesses. In the general vicinity, visitors will find the Pyramid House, Temple Farms Lippizans, Betty's Market, Thompson's Strawberry Farms, Mill Creek Hunt Club, Kelly Stable Imported Irish Horses and now Patch 22, the hayride business. Not far away are Great America and the giant Factory Outlet Center, real magnets for visitors. We're wondering if the Kellys will be changing the name of their business to Patch 41?

Board turnover gives Geary chance to roar

THE RESULTS OF the primary election may give an old lion the chance to roar once more. The election of Suzi Schmidt in Dist. 4 and Bobbie O'Reilly in Dist. 6 gave the coalition of independent Republicans and Democrats a thin 13-11 majority over the regular Republicans.

If the independents and the

by Charles Johnston

Democrats can hold their coalition together, they will choose the next County Board chairman. The most qualified choice from the independent ranks is Norm Geary of Grayslake. While I have many disagreements with Geary, he has the experience of envisioning a policy, following through, and making it become a reality. That is the sort of experience that is in short supply among the ranks of most of the independents.

During the term that the next board chairman will serve, many festering problems will reach the point where they must be resolved. In northeastern, Illinois, we have about three years to reach a solution on what to do with out garbage not just to have a plan, but to have a solution in place.

It is loads of fun to scream about the environmental dangers of a landfill. But when there is no place for garbage to go, the only thing more hazardous than a landfill is no landfill. Unfortunately, in central Lake County, the only landfill most of us are familiar with is ARF near Grayslake. ARF is smelly and dirty, attracting flocks of scavenger birds with paper garbage flying about. But that is not how a landfill has to be. Take a trip to St. Charles sometime and check out the landfill there. It is handled completely different. There is no smell, few scavengers, and it is scrupulously clean.

We must solve the garbage problem or we will find ourselves buried in a mountain of trash. The answer is not knee-jerk opposition to landfills, but a study of how the communities that make them work well do it.

The next session of the County Board, beginning this December, will be charged with finding a solution.

THERE IS NOW a candidate who will challenge Lake County Republican Chairman Bob Neal's leadership. The candidate is Fremont Twp. Sup. and former County Board member George Bell.

Bell already has the unified backing of independent Republican committeemen throughout the county. That probably is not enough to unseat Neal, though.

The question on the minds of most people is how Warren Twp. Sup. Bob Depke will come down. Though a regular, Depke was one of the most vociferous opponents of the proposed county executive system that failed by a 2-1 margin in the election. Depke was furious at Neal for even bringing the idea up.

If Depke's anger runs deep enough that he decides to support Bell, then Neal is in deep trouble because Depke can take a strong contingent of regular Republicans with him. Warren Twp. Repulicans will play the pivotal role in deciding who the next party leader will be.

COUNTY BOARD REP. Bruce Hansen (R-Lake Zurich) is now clearly the dominant figure in Dist. 6. That district is the only one that is now solidly in the hands of the independent Republicans. Most observers had expected incumbent Rich Anderson of Barrington (an independent) and incumbent Jerry Beyer of Wauconda (a regular) to be reelected. No one expected the sort of overwhelming defeat that Beyer suffered at the hands of Anderson's running mate, Bobbie O'Reilly.

Hansen was the architect of that campaign and he obviously knows what the people in Dist. 6 are looking for. Ela Twp. Sup. Bob Grever was quietly slated to oppose Hansen for County Board in the 1990 election. But Ela is Hansen's home township and Grever is going to have to worry about holding on to his job at the township elections scheduled for next spring. Unless something big happens between now and then, the village of Lake Zurich can expect to see a turnover of its mayor and some trustees at the same election.

For two years, Hansen has talked big. On March 15, he produced big. Whoever leads the party and whoever leads the County Board will now have to take Hansen very seriously indeed.

Appreciate vote

Editor:

The referendum question on financing the Lake Michigan water project was approved by a two-to-one plurality at the polls on March 15. On behalf of all the directors of the water agency, I would like to thank those voters who took the time to go to the polls to cast their ballot on this important matter.

I would also like to thank the League of Women Voters for the outstanding study report they prepared on sources of water in central Lake county and for helping in the Agency's efforts to inform the citizens on the water project and the critical question of financing.

The directors of the water agency and all of the elected officials of the member communities have worked exhaustively for many years to determine the most efficient and economical way of providing a safe and reliable source of water to our residents. It is gratifying to all of us to know we have the support of those people we have been elected to represent.

Voters shun centralization

by JOHN MATIJEVICH
State Representative

The vote in the county executive referendum showed that people rebel against centralized power.

The closing days before the election told voters who would exercise clout in Lake County when it was disclosed that the bulk of campaign funds

The passage of the county executive issue in Will County may make it tougher to pass bills to clear up some of the defects. For example, I believe that a county executive should be elected in the regular primary and general election process. But, the issue in Will County was passed under existing so overwhelming, I don't think that there is any chance of approval in the near future. Nevertheless, the defects must be addressed. The delineation between the executive and legislative powers must be clarified. In counties where there is the executive form of government, the chief executive does not tread on the issue was contributed by a handful of people. The small big-money special interest group mainly represented large-scale developers.

Last Tuesday, Lake and Champaign counties turned down the executive form of government. In Will County, by a small 700-vote margin, the issue won. That means that it is likely that some of the constitutional issues can be tested and resolved, particularly the one on whether one can have the executive form of government and remain a non-home rule county.

law and they would argue that a change now will delay implementation. As was predicted here if the issue won, the Republican county chairman there, because the precinct committeemen choose the nominees, is expected to be a candidate for the office. It is eminently right that, the people, through the primary election, should select the nominees, not the political power-brokers.

Of course, there is no emergency to pass anything as far as Lake County voters are concerned. The vote against the county executive was on legislative powers and responsibilities, and that change should be made.

Another change that we are trying to make is to insure greater voter participation by limiting to general elections only as to when the county executive issue can be placed on the ballot. That means that if voters in a general election, where more people vote, choose to opt for the county executive, then candidates would be nominated in the next primary election. I don't believe that an issue as important as changing the form of government should be voted on in primaries.

Challenge state funding

Editor:

Our school board has decided to join other districts in a lawsuit to challenge the lack of funding for state mandates. Lack of funding is not the only problem. The manner in which some of these mandates are being implemented is causing unnecessary expenditures for our school districts.

It's time we taxpayers ask just how much importance our state leaders really place on education in Illinois. Education received a lot of attention during the 1984 elections. Good intentions on the part of many in the legislature saw well intended reforms passed by House Bill 730. What has happened in the implementation? The mandate for learner outcomes, while a good idea, has turned into a nightmare. The costs of implementing this program in our schools are prohibitive.

We keep hearing about the lack of funds for education in Illinois. There is a cry from Springfield for a tax increase to support education. As it is now, our schools are funded primarily by local tax dollars. Now we are forced to spend those tax dollars to pursue a lawsuit against the state for mandates it has not funded. Each dollar spent on legal fees is one less dollar spent on educational programs for our students.

The leaders of our state government must address the problems raised by House Bill 730 quickly, before our precious educational dollars are spent on insufficiently funded, poorly implemented reforms--and needless lawsuits.

How can we support a tax increase for education when we are experiencing first hand, what appears to be, a lack of real commitment to quality education in our state?

Woolners, relatives, friends celebrate 60

An open house reception was held for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Woolner from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, March 8 in honor of their sixtieth wedding anniversary (March 6) at the Christian Life Fellowship Church at 41625 Deep Lake Rd.

A short program was presented with Rev. Darrel Hendrichson of Calvary Temple Christian Center in Lake Villa, paying tribute to the Woolners, who were his former parishioners until they became charter members of the Christian Life Fellowship Church in Antioch in 1984.

Rev. Ken Woolner of Zion, the oldest son of the Woolners, reminisced about his boyhood and expressed his appreciation to his parents for their loving care.

Mrs. Robert Swift of Round lake accompanied by her husband on the guitar, sang the Woolner's favorite hymn, "In the Garden". Rev. Jeff Brussaly closed the program with a short message of encouragement and congratulations.

The Fellowship Hall was decorated in a motif of white and gold. The center of attraction was a wedding cake baked by Chris Handley. Coffee, punch and cake were served to the guests.

Donald Woolner and Vonceil Windham were married March 6 at Crestview, Fla. The romance began four years before they were married as Donald and his parents spent the winters at their winter home near Vonceil's home. At the time of their marriage Donald was 23 years of age and Vonceil was 17. Immediately after their marriage, they returned to the Antioch area where they have spent the past 60 years.

Vonceil worked as a florist for several years and Donald was a trapper in the early years and later worked for the State of Illinois Road Dept.

They have three children, Rev. Ken Woolner of Zion, Juanita Hession of Antioch, and Jack Woolner of Highlands, Ill. They have 11 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

FROM THE OFFICE OF DR. PAUL ABLER

BUNIONECTOMY IN DIABETICS

It may be advisable for bunions or claw toes to be surgically corrected in a diabetic before problems with ulcers due to pressure occur, particularly if the diabetic is young. In the usual treatment of choice, your podiatrist resects (trims or cuts off) the base of the proximal phalanx, or the second bone, of the big toe.

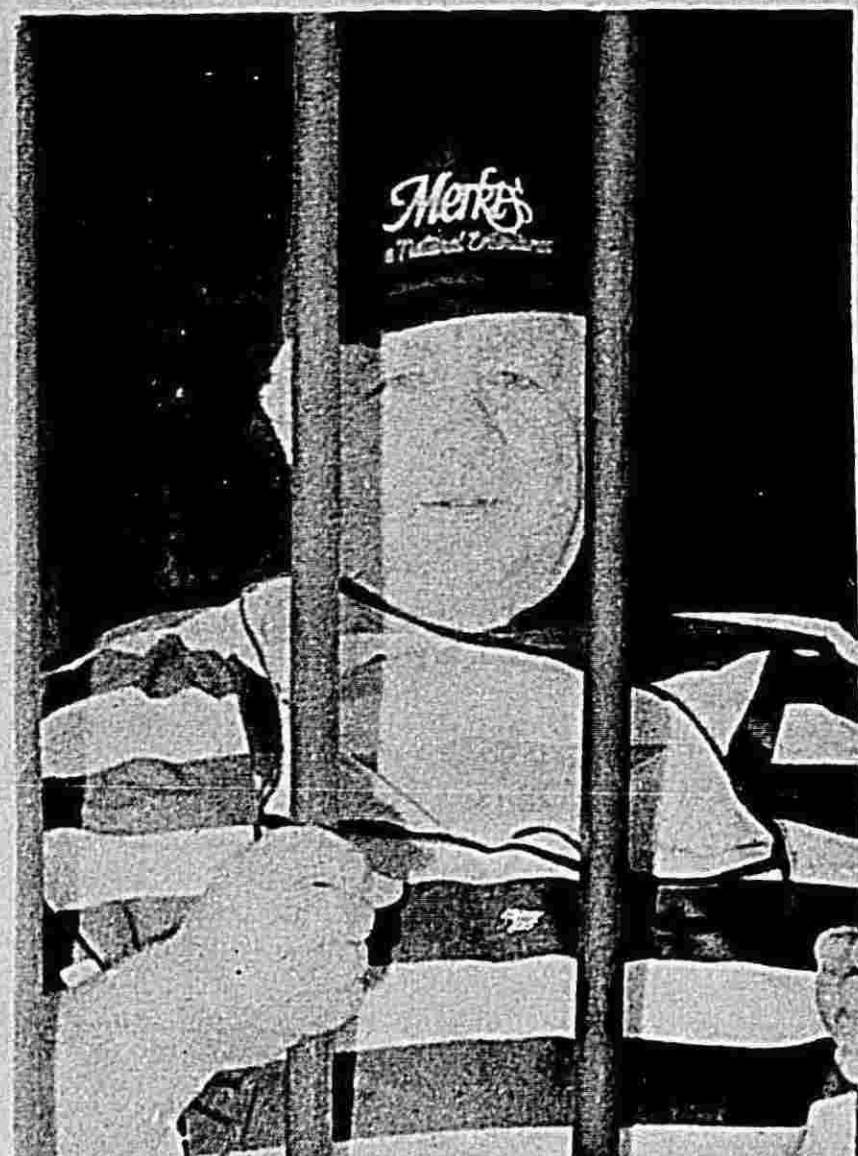

Correcting the deformity in claw toes can avoid dorsal calluses and possible areas of ulceration over those joints. In addition, it will become less essential to remove calluses and corns. Surgery is recommended for diabetic patients only for the most valid of reasons, because the nature of the disease adds to the surgical risk. In itself, that's an added reason for diabetics to schedule regular podiatric examinations.

Youngsters in grades six through 12 may participate in Grayslake's boys basketball camp. Cost for grades six through eight will be $8 and $12 for grades nine through 12. Baseball hitting and pitching camp will be offered for ages six to 18. The cost is $8 for a half-hour. Schedule will accommodate each student.

Wrestlers in grades six to 12 may join the school's wrestling camp. Cost is $45 for the camp, which runs from June 20 - July 28. The first session will run from 9 - 10:30 a.m. and the second session will be 10:30 - noon. Participants are not required to attend every session or every day. All participants are encouraged to attend at least three or four sessions each week.

are: ages one and two, 10 a.m.; age three, 10:30 a.m.; ages four and five, 11 a.m. and ages six and seven, 11:30 a.m. The event is free and will be held indoors if weather is uncooperative.

Carmel names president, principal

Rev. William J. Harry, O. Carm., has been named president, and Sister Diane M. O'Donnell, BVM, has been named principal of Carmel High School in Mundelein, effective July 1.

The announcement was made Friday morning at a joint meeting of the faculties and staffs of Carmel High School for Girls and Carmel High School for Boys by Sister Dolores M. McHugh, BVM, chairperson of the Board of Directors. "The Board is thrilled with the caliber of the two top administrators," Sister Dolores said. "Since both Father Bill and Sister Diane are presently at Carmel, we can expect continuity while they chart future directions for the new Carmel High School."

The two religious congregations which sponsor Carmel High School, the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary (BVMs) and the Order of Carmelites (O.Carms) voted last July to merge the two schools under a single administrative team. Since then a new Board of Directors and a new Board of Education have been laying the groundwork for the appointment of the top administrators.

Father Harry has been the principal of Carmel High School for Boys since 1985. A native of Louisville, Ken., he earned his BA from Marquette University and his MEd from the University of Arizona. Father Harry has also earned advanced degrees in theology from the Gregorian University in Rome and St. Mary of the Lake University in Mundelein. In addition to his administrative experience, Father Harry has high school teaching experience at Salpointe Catholic High School in Tucson, Ariz.

Among his goals as president, Father Harry hopes to establish an endowment program to fund academic department chairs, to increase the availability of scholarship money and other financial aids for students in lower-income families, and to develop a sophisticated public relations program in order to get the Carmel story out to the growing Lake County area.

Sister O'Donnell, currently the chairperson of the Guidance Department at Carmel High School for girls brings broad secondary school teaching and administrative experience to her new job as principal. Born in Chicago, Sister O'Donnell graduated with a BA from Mundelein College Chicago. She earned her MEd in Administration from Loyola University and an MA in Counseling from Northeastern University. She served as principal of Immaculate High School in Chicago, and has taught at high schools associated with

BVM ministries across the country, including Bishop Garcia Diego High School in Santa Barbara, Calif., Father Bertrand High School in

Memphis, Tenn., LaSalle High School in Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Our Lady of Peace High School in St. Paul, Minn. Sister O'Donnell worked at Carmel High School for Girls for two years as dean from 1976 to 1978. She returned to Carmel in her present position in 1981.

Building gag plan scored by citizens

County Building Officer Robert Streicher may be violating the Illinois Freedom of Information Act by withholding information on "red tagged" cases or items before the state's attorney, according to Citizens for Better Building and Zoning.

A plan to withhold information on building and zoning cases under investigation was presented by Streicher to the Lake County Board Building and Health Committee.

Mary Campbell of CBBZ charged that this would amount to censorship.

Documentation of brusque treatment by building office aides and loss of records in Streicher's office is being documented, Campbell reported.

Representation in the organization now has spread to 11 townships, a CBBZ spokesperson declared.

Next general meeting will be early April at a location in Vernon Township to be announced.

Alcohol prohibited in Volo Bog, 9 parks

Volo Bog State Natural Area in Lake County is among ten state parks in which the Illinois Dept. of Conservation has banned the use and display of alcoholic beverages.

Ron Hallberg, chief of the Department's Division of Land Management, said the restrictions come in the wake of the sites' history of increasing problems due to the use of alcohol, such as under age drinking, fights and disturbances, large numbers of arrests, accidents, incidents of illegal transportation of alcohol, driving under the influence, littering and damage to park property. Hallberg stressed that the public image of the parks has also been damaged.

Volo Bog's inclusion among the ten sites stems from the fact that the natural area's primary purpose is educational rather than recreational and is utilized by large numbers of school children.

Furthermore, alcohol is already prohibited under state law on dedicated nature preserves, which comprise most of the Volo Bog site. "We have been experiencing increasing problems related to alcohol in the small day use area that provides picnic facilities for school groups and families and in the adjacent parking lot lying outside the preserve's boundaries," Hallberg

Our State Parks can be enjoyed without the use of alcohol," Hallberg said. "And its misuse has interfered with many visitor's enjoyment of the parks. There has been a significant and increasing number of complaints about intoxicated individuals who misuse and abuse park property and who disturb other visitors."

The restrictions range widely in areas included and time periods encompassed. Some are seasonal, others are year-round and some are already being enforced while others are due to go into effect later this year. Volo Bog's restrictions are year round and include the whole site.

The other sites affected are: Moraine Hills/McHenry Dam State Park, McHenry County; Kankakee River State Park, Kankakee and Will Counties; Silver Springs State Park, Kendall County; Buffalo Rock State Park, LaSalle County; Illini State Park, LaSalle County; Horseshoe Lake State Park, Madison County; Pere Marquette State Park, Jersey County; and Starved Rock and Matheissen State Parks, LaSalle County.

Hallberg indicated that the Dept. of Conservation does not have the manpower necessary to effectively maintain law and order in these ten areas if alcohol use is not restricted.

Ploss finds fun in printing

by BILL DOTSON

Doug Ploss says that the atmosphere in the office of his Art 'n' Type business reminds him in a way of "The Wizard of Oz".

"Remember the part where Dorothy said, 'People come and go so quickly around here?'" he said.

During the course of a conversation with Ploss, various people may breeze in and out of the basement of his lakeside home in Lake Villa for any number of reasons, whether to drop off or pick up something, ask a question, or make a comment. Then they vanish as quickly as they appeared.

Ploss himself does bear a certain resemblance to "that man behind the curtain". He always has some new wonderful creation handy that he is happy to share with his visitors. This could be anything from a set of paper helicopters that actually fly (complete with a detailed illustration of a pilot) to a collection of novelty business cards, including one simply labeled in big letters "Some other form of identification".

"We're always looking for new ideas for cards", he said.

Don't make the mistake, though, of assuming that he spends all his time on such frivolous things. He has a business to run, and even with the help of Mary-Jeanne, his wife of 32 years, that responsibility can get much more demanding than many people realize.

"There's an old saying that when you're self-employed, you only have to work half-days," he said, "and it doesn't matter which 12 hours you pick."

Just what kind of business is "Art 'n' Type Group"? Ploss answers "I like to describe it as an advertising agency with graphic arts backing." He pointed out that it has three separate listings in the phone book—one under advertising agencies and counselors, one under commercial artists, and one under typesetting.

"We get the most calls from the advertising one", he said. "We found a niche. There are no advertising agencies here in western Lake County. That's a very important part of our business. And we back it up with our own typesetting. When we do a job, it's ready to go."

The tools of the trade that can be found in the Ploss home include drawing tables, a processor, and a typesetting machine which Ploss bought at Mary-Jeanne's suggestion after he went into business with "Art 'n' Type" in 1981.

Seven years ago, Ploss was laid off from his job as art and printing department manager for the now-defunct AAMCO Tools facility in North Chicago. He had held that position for 10 years.

"When you get laid off, your first instinctive reaction is to seek another job," he said. "But when you discover that you're apparently no longer hireable for age or whatever reason—you have to do something else."

Ploss sent out several resumes to companies who all sent back polite rejections. Unable to find anyone willing to hire him, he hired himself—and now uses those rejection letters as samples of letterhead designs.

His 25-plus years of experience in the fields of graphics and printing proved very helpful in starting and maintaining his own business—although he admits that getting the business off the ground proved a little rocky.

"We had some low spots," he said. "We weren't eating oatmeal sandwiches or anything, but it wasn't all smooth sailing."

Ploss says that what helped things was his contacts and referrals from friends. "People would need something and they didn't know how to get it," he said, "and somebody would tell them 'Hey, I know a guy who can do that'."

"That's why you should never burn any bridges," he stresses. "Those contacts can really help you someday."

He discussed what appeals to him about running his business. "People know what they want, but they don't know how to go about it. So a lot of times, you sit and listen and counsel. I enjoy doing that," he said. "By being an ad agency and being knowledgeable about graphics, it gives a double advantage."

Ploss has decided he much prefers working for himself over working for someone else. "As an employee, you never get the whole picture (of running a business). Even as a manager, you manage what other people do."

"I've been in business for myself for a long time now and I wouldn't have it any other way. I'm just glad there are people out there who need help, otherwise I don't know what I'd be doing," Ploss said.

Baxter to build new Malaysian glove plant

Baxter Travenol Laboratories has announced that it has begun construction on its second major glove manufacturing facility in Penang, Malaysia.

The 330,000-square-foot facility will cost more than $50 million and produce surgeons' latex gloves for the worldwide health-care market. It is expected to begin operations in the second quarter of 1989 and employ more than 1,500 people.

"Increased concern about transmission of AIDS and other viral diseases has led to a worldwide shortage of surgeons' and examination gloves," said Wilbur H. Gantz, Baxter president. "Our Malaysian facility will fill an important health-care need and allow Baxter to maintain its market leadership position."

The new facility will be built near an existing Baxter glove plant in Penang that was completed in January 1988 and is expected to produce 500 million latex exam gloves annually. Taken together, the two plants will be the largest latex-glove manufacturing complex in the world.

Baxter also operates a catheter-manufacturing plant in Sungei Patani, Malaysia.

Baxter Travenol Laboratories, through its domestic and international subsidiaries, develops, manufactures and markets a diversified line of health-care products, systems and services. The company will seek stockholder approval in May to change its name to Baxter International.

St. Therese aids workers

FSHCC recently acquired the medical center, and is unable to retain everyone currently on the payroll. Those facing job losses include supervisors, business office personnel, security and maintenance staff, nursing assistants, ward clerks, laboratory staff and other non-exempt personnel.

All interested employers are invited to list their employment opportunities with the Job Resource Center, which is organized, underwritten and administered by FSHCC on a no-fee basis to prospective employers or individual candidates.

Big new business park acquires its first tenant

During recent groundbreaking ceremonies, Ron Frain, chairman of Frain Camins and Swartchild corporate real estate services, announced that the company has signed the first tenant for its Grand Tri-State Business Park development in Gurnee.

Domino Amjet, Inc., an England-based high-tech ink jet printing company, has signed the first industrial lease for building space within the 270-acre real estate development. The new facility will serve as the company's North American headquarters, consolidating two existing offices currently located in Lake Bluff and Waukegan, Illinois. Construction of the 72,000 square foot building is now underway, with occupancy set for June 1988.

Frain Camins and Swartchild principal Edward E. Johnson and broker Robert L. Elbrecht represented the business park developers in the transaction and brokers Mary McSorley and Terry O'Hara of Grubb and Ellis, represented Domino Amjet.

The building will serve as 50 percent office and laboratory space and 50 percent warehouse, with about 80 initial employees. Twenty to 30 new jobs will be added at the facility within the first year.

Developers for the first Grand Tri-

State Business Park facility are principals of Frain Camins and Swartchild, in a joint venture with Tom Rosenquist and Lake Partners. FC and S is also the exclusive sales/leasing agent for the midwest's newest and largest business park development, strategically located midway between Milwaukee and Chicago.

"We are delighted to have signed our first tenant," said Frain. "Our entire project has been met with tremendous enthusiasm from Lake County officials and residents to potential tenants. It appears that the timing is right for the development of an ex-urban real estate development like the Grand Tri-State Business Park, which offers all the amenities of downtown locations but with lower taxes and no congestion or traffic problems."

Alan Barrel, chairman of Domino Amjet, visiting the groundbreaking from England, said, "We are delighted with our new North American headquarters location. We thought we might have trouble finding a build-to-suit situation in this area, but the people we worked with from both the government and development side have bent over backwards to provide us with the ideal location. This will be a tremendous business park."

Ground breaking

First American Bank has opened its latest branch location in Vernon Hills. Temporarily located in the Rivertree Court Shopping Center while the bank's permanent home is under construction, the Vernon Hills branch is First American's 16th location in the Chicagoland area.

"This is a major step forward for us," said Executive Vice-President Charles de Rivera. "We have served Lake County for 76 years, and we believe we will find excellent opportunities in the Vernon Hills area. Our new building will be completed around the end of this year, which will be a fine facility and a complement to the community. Meanwhile, we invite our friends to visit us in our new temporary quarters."

Private Industry Council hosts legislators forum

The Private Industry Councils of Lake and McHenry Counties and the Illinois Dept. of Commerce and Community Affairs hosted a forum for legislators from this area March 17 at the Gurnee Holiday Inn.

Denise Charts, of Outboard Marine, chairman of the Lake County training program, and Sandra Pierce, the McHenry Private Industry Council chairman, praised the respective Councils remarking particularly on the achievements made by each group.

Representing the Lake County Board, Eleanor Rostron gave high praise to the Council members who thoroughly study the recommendations coming from council committees and the staff. "The bottom line approach used by the business sector, the majority on the Council, assures a low cost per placement for Private Industry Council trainees," Rostron said.

Christine Stevens explained the Lake County two pronged approach—how the Council assists the business community with the trained workers it provides through its market oriented training and, of course, how the workers are readied for jobs with upward mobility. Stevens, who is the director of the Private Industry Council of Lake County, spoke with regret on the cut in funding which the PICs are facing and how this will limit the number of workers trained or retrained.

Al Jordan, the McHenry County auditor, spoke for the McHenry County Board, telling about the cooperation between the PIC and the economic development arm of county government. Both the business community and the workers have benefited from this coordination.

Retraining is necessary for workers whose jobs are being cut at the Kenosha Chrysler plant. John Taylor, director of Job Training Partnership Act programs for DCCA, spoke of the new Worker Readjustment legislation in the trade bill, which should be in place by 1989 and which should provide funding for retraining many persons in Lake County; however, Stevens commented that there is great need right now in Lake County.

Taylor explained that JTPA is an experimental piece of legislation because it provides some authority to states, some authority to private industry councils, composed of local business and local interest groups and some authority to local government. It has been very successful, and the councils have become respected community organizations.

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs is encouraging private industry councils in other parts of the state to host similar forums for their legislators.

Host legislators forum

Bank promotes Balza

Fred Abdula, chairman of the board of the Bank of Waukegan, has announced that Kenneth W. Balza has been elected to the position of executive vice-president of the bank.

Brissey in race for Dist. 4 County Board seat

Scott Brissey, a Democratic precinct committeeman and a trustee in the Venetian Village Civic Assn., has announced his candidacy for the Lake County Board in Dist. 4, which covers Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twp.

Brissey is employed at Underwriters Laboratories, Northbrook, a public safety testing laboratory, and has been involved in many facets of public service.

He was a correspondent for the Lake Villa Record from 1980 to 1984, covering township and community associations in his weekly "West Miltmore News" column. "Seeing the political process from the perspective of a newsman taught me to step back and see a situation in an objective way," Brissey said.

In 1985, he was campaign manager for the Lake Villa Twp. Improvement Party, which won every office by a wide margin.

"Being campaign manager of the Twp. Improvement Party, a coalition of independent Republicans and Democrats, gave me experience in dealing with the political diversity of Lake County," Brissey added.

A native of Chicago,

Brissey has lived for nine years in unincorporated Lake Villa Twp. with his wife, Linda, of 16 years.

As a member of the County Board, Brissey would expand the role of township government to give more self-determination and better services to the unincorporated areas, while encouraging the cooperation of neighboring villages.

"County government should address regional concerns, like solid waste disposal," Brissey said. "Village and township governments are the most accessible, accountable and the most capable of handling the everyday details of local government."

Also, Brissey wants to preserve the unique character of Lake County by adding wetlands and other environmentally sensitive areas of northwest Lake County to the Forest Preserve Dist. and by supporting businesses that are compatible with natural resources.

4-H camping exciting experience

Imagine splashing in a creek, exploring the forest or learning how to make interesting arts and crafts items. There's swimming, archery, softball and other sports and games. At night, there are campfires, storytelling and dancing.

Young people can participate in a variety of exciting activities at 4-H Camp.

Campers live in rustic cabins with other youth and adult counselors. Wholesome meals are served daily, and a camp nurse is on duty at all times.

Youth from Lake County will be attending 4-H Camp Shaw-waw-nas-see located near Manteno, Ill., during the week of June 20-24. The camp fee is $103.50, which includes meals, lodging, and general camp activities for the five-day session.

A camp bus, leaving from the Lake County 4-H office, will transport youth to and from camp. A transportation fee will be charged depending on the number of bus passengers.

4-H membership is not required for youth to attend 4-H Camp. The youth camp is open to young people ages eight to 13, and a teen camp and family camp are also available to Lake County residents.

A 4-H Camp Information Night is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 29, at the Lake County Extension Office, 33020 N. Hwy. 45, Grayslake. Interested youth and their parents are encouraged to attend.

To obtain further information about 4-H Camp or other 4-H opportunities, contact the Lake County 4-H office, (312) 223-8629.

The Nightmares of Retirement

By Conrad Meier

MEIER INSURANCE SERVICES

YOU SHOULD KNOW...a few things about retirement planning.

1. NOT ENOUGH MONEY.

--This usually happens as a result of just waiting too long to start a plan. You did not avail yourself of the many safe, tax-deferred plans like: IRA-TSA-401k-403b-SPWL- and Universal Life, to name a few.

--If you think you have a retirement plan because you have an employer-sponsored pension, an IRA and a Social Security number--think again.

--While these items are essential, they are just the "tip of the iceberg" and may not keep your boat afloat in our changing times. Too many of our senior citizens have plans that are falling short.

--They failed to ask a very important retirement question: WHAT IF?

2. LOTS OF MONEY...TOO LITTLE INCOME

--With a professional plan you can set your goals to have 65 percent to 75 percent of pre-retirement earnings needed to maintain your life style.

--Ask yourself: are your plans safe from inflation, the fluctuating dollar, constant changes in taxation and up and down interest rates?

3. LOSING IT.

--We have seen prudent executives do some strange things when they "fear" living on a "fixed" income. When you take a loss in your retirement years, it can be tough to recoup.

--There are "safe" ways to almost double your principle and live on the interest only.

4. BANK FAILURES.

--Did you know that 184 banks failed last year? Did you know that FDIC insurance has a catch? Sure, you get your principle back, but it can take months and plenty of red tape. Meanwhile, you have lost the "time value" of money. How long can you live with out immediate access to your funds?

--Do you know a "safe" bank when you see one? There is a formula to determine stability.

5. TAXED INTO TROUBLE.

--Congress axed the double personal exemption for citizens over 65, set tougher limits on tax-free bonds, and you can expect a new tax bill every year for the rest of the '80's to make up for enormous deficits.

6. ILLNESS WIPES YOU OUT.

--Medicare pays less than 50 percent of expenses for older single men and less than 40 percent for older single women. Can you rely on your employer to provide medical coverage in your later years? You should know about private plans that fill-in coverage gaps, prevent overlapping and stay current with rising costs of medical care.

--It is becoming evident that our ability to keep people alive exceeds our ability to pay for it.

7. STAGNATION.

--What you learned building your career towards a comfortable retirement can be all wrong in later years. You need to set different goals for recreation and leisure. Have you thought about a part-time business or volunteer work?

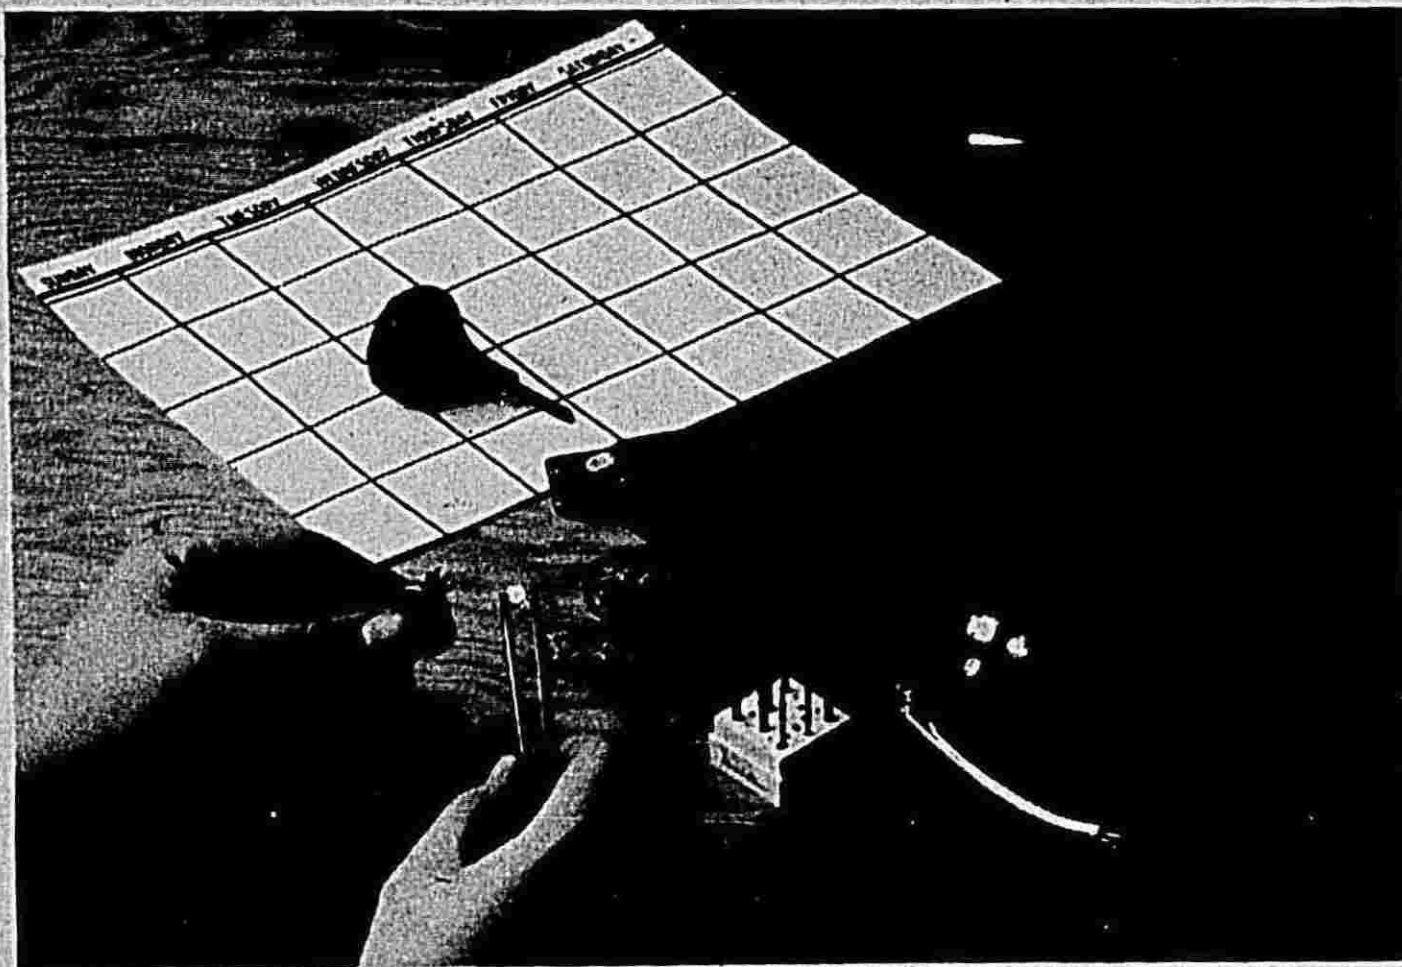

--Even selecting the climate for retirement can affect the quality of your life.

Florida is not for everyone.

We thought you should know

munity's youth

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

After scoring a Top Ten hit with "Say You Will," the first single from their latest Atlantic album Inside Information, Foreigner would appear back on track. However, only a year before, the group was going through some serious internal strife.

During that time, communication between band leader Mick Jones and vocalist Lou Gramm had completely broken down. As the singer geared up for the release of his debut solo album, Ready Or Not, rumors were rampant that he might not be returning to the Foreigner camp.

"After all that we'd achieved over the years, I felt it was a pity that it looked like things were just going to end on this sour note, as it were," says Jones. "So I called Lou, swallowed my pride a little bit, and said, 'Look, we haven't really talked together over this period, so maybe we should.' The outcome was that we decided we both felt we still had something to achieve together."

Once Gramm had come back to the fold, the band started working on their new album. "As soon as we began writing and rehearsing the material, everything started to go relatively smoothly," says Jones.

Unlike previous Foreigner albums, most of which had required marathon studio stints, Inside Information was recorded relatively quickly.

Jones gives a good deal of credit to the input of engineer Frank Filippetti, who ultimately earned a co-production credit on the new album. "Having Frank there to help was important," says Jones. "Apart from being a wonderful engineer, he's a really good set of extra ears for me."

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

After scoring a Top Ten hit with "Say You Will," the first single from their latest Atlantic album Inside Information, Foreigner would appear back on track. However, only a year before, the group was going through some serious internal strife.

During that time, communication between band leader Mick Jones and vocalist Lou Gramm had completely broken down. As the singer geared up for the release of his debut solo album, Ready Or Not, rumors were rampant that he might not be returning to the Foreigner camp.

"After all that we'd achieved over the years, I felt it was a pity that it looked like things were just going to end on this sour note, as it were," says Jones. "So I called Lou, swallowed my pride a little bit, and said, 'Look, we haven't really talked together over this period, so maybe we should.' The outcome was that we decided we both felt we still had something to achieve together."

Once Gramm had come back to the fold, the band started working on their new album. "As soon as we began writing and rehearsing the material, everything started to go relatively smoothly," says Jones.

Unlike previous Foreigner albums, most of which had required marathon studio sprints, Inside Information was recorded relatively quickly.

Jones gives a good deal of credit to the input of engineer Frank Filipetti, who ultimately earned a co-production credit on the new album. "Having Frank there to help was important," says Jones. "Apart from being a wonderful engineer, he's a really good set of extra ears for me."

THIS WEEK'S

★ HOROSCOPE ★

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Look toward the future, and refuse to dwell on the past.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) A series of spectacular events is coming your way. Many situations are likely to be drastically altered, so prepare yourself. Sever unproductive ties.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) You appear to be in a quandary over career issues. An interesting Cancer personality may help you with important decisions. Review domestic affairs.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Calm yourself where that sensitive issue is concerned. Areas of your life need to be viewed with a greater degree of objectivity. Find an honorable solution.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) The stress you've been feeling should be fading away. You are advised to modify your demands on others. Look for changes in those with authority.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) Postpone a major move until you are sure you would be better off. Don't play the fool so willingly when you feel that others are just as responsible.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Separate yourself from disagreeable associates. But don't turn the other way concerning developments relating to important business affairs.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Look for some promising hope in the form of an inquisitive Aries. You must continue to exercise tact and patience where co-workers are concerned.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) You are likely to be changeable, outspoken and overdramatic now. The crosses you bear are several in number, but this frustrating cycle will end soon.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Changes abound as we move into April, and this should prove to be a challenging month professionally and personally. Things will clear up later.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) That urge to lay low is melting away with the spring thaw. Go get 'em, tiger, and have yourself a ball. Meanwhile, don't overlook finances now.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Chaos is the operative word these days, but if you can keep your head above water now, the rest will be smooth sailing. Be sympathetic towards family.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Take the final plunge concerning that emotionally draining project, and reap the harvest! Don't be surprised by new romantic involvements.

If you were born this week, a strong sense of family loyalty has led, and will continue to lead, your life. But you must not live for them, or allow them to live for you, but try to find a happy balance. Family is important, but there is more than that in life. Independence, on a balanced level, can be a wonderful thing; and it can also be shared.

Home equity loans good deal for senior citizens

by GARY S. MEYERS

Do you know any elderly—who need money for living, home repair or health care, but are house rich and cash poor?

An equity conversion loan, also known as reverse mortgage, may be the way for senior citizens to convert their home equity to cash. The elderly will be able to raise money from their largest asset without having to sell, move or suffer the pitfalls and risks of a refinance.

Many of our elderly are worth more than they realize. Experts estimate that more than $700 billion in home equity is presently held by the elderly.

According to a 1983 study by Dr. Bruce Jacobs of New York's University of Rochester, 83 percent of America's homeowners aged 65 or older owned their homes free and clear of all debt.

Beginning in early 1989 the Federal Housing Administration is planning a demonstration program that will insure 2,500 home-equity conversion loans (reverse mortgages) for elderly homeowners.

The FHA program, authorized under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1987, will be administered by the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development. The FHA will make loan commitments until 1991, but the loans will be insured until the homeowner dies or sells the home.

Similar to standard home equity loans available at commercial banks and savings associations, the new conversion loan will provide either a monthly cash payment or make a floating line of credit available to the elderly homeowner to draw from when needed. The interest rate on the loans may be fixed or they may be tied to a variable index.

However, unlike other home equity loans the FHA-insured loans delay repayment of principal and interest until the homeowner dies or sells his home.

"Standard home equity loans are generally not good for the elderly. People really can risk losing their home because they have to pay the money back while they are receiving it," said Ken Scholen, executive director of the National Center for Home Equity Conversion in Madison, Wis.

Although the final details of the FHA new program still are being worked out, homeowners 62 or older would qualify. The maximum amount the FHA will insure will range from $67,500 to $101,250, depending on the area of the country.

If the FHA program is successful, home equity conversion experts see such programs becoming widely available. Private organizations, local and state governments already have similar home equity conversion programs in California, Arizona, Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and a few other places.

There are three basic types of reverse mortgages: the split-term reverse mortgage, the term reverse mortgage and the shared appreciation reverse mortgage.

Begun in 1985, Connecticut's split-term RM program has attracted more than 240 participants.

Under the plan, homeowners receive tax-free monthly payments for 10 years, based on 80 percent of the appraised value of the home. The payments automatically continue to build up in the form of a larger loan balance along with the unpaid interest due on the balance.

At maturity payments stop, but the repayment of principal and interest is not due until the home is sold or the borrower dies. Borrowers may remain in their home as the legal owner. Rhode Island also has a similar program.

The interest rate for Connecticut's plan is a low 7 percent. Connecticut's plan does require that homes have no more than $5,000 in debt to be eligible for the program. As part of the program homeowners can elect to receive a lump sum payment of $5,000 to pay off any outstanding debts.

Term Reverse mortgages require full payment at maturity, ranging from three to 12 years. Under a term RM some elderly homeowners must sell their home to pay off the debt.

Shared Appreciation Reverse mortgages are perhaps the most complicated of the RMs. The cash paid monthly is effected by more than the home's present value. The monthly payment and interest charged also will vary, depending on the age and sex of the homeowner(s) and how the home is owned—joint tenancy or other. Repayment is not required until the home is sold. At repayment the lending authority receives principal and interest plus a percentage of the home's appreciation.

There are risks involved with risk mortgages. Most notably elderly homeowners could lose their home if they cannot afford to pay off the debt at maturity.

a capacity for 24 retirees,

all residents are served in the diningroom.

The rooms are charmingly furnished but residents are welcome to bring as many pieces of their own furniture as they desire. For real retirement luxury, maid service cleans the rooms twice a week and all linens are furnished and laundered.

The cozy diningroom with its rustic fireplace offers the perfect atmosphere for making new friends and maybe even in on one of the many activities held there.

Three days a week, residents of Arrowhead can take a bus to nearby
Lake Geneva for shopping, church services, doctors visits or just plain enjoying a morning or afternoon 'doing the town.'

Seniors can enjoy staying fit the '80s way by swimming and exercising in the new four-foot swimming pool and a nature walk to help one "Stop and Smell the Roses," can almost always be on an agenda because of the two-and-one-half mile nature trail that runs through the forest preserves next to the lodge.

The remarkable facilities offered at Arrowhead are due to the experience of the Keyes who spent many years opening and supervising retirement homes in for senior service men in Ireland.

"There, those retiring from the military services, seemed to be at loose ends and have no place to go," so Joe Keyes started by renovating single homes, each being able to accomodate
14 retired servicemen.

The Keyes want everyone to see their spanking new facilities and they are doing this by holding an open house at the lodge on Sunday, March 27, from 2 to 4 p.m.

FOOT SURGERY FOR SENIORS

Foot surgery can help older persons keep active and independent.

If you are a senior citizen who is having podiatric problems, age alone is no reason for automatically ruling out surgical treatment. In a consultation, various aspects of the problem and alternative treatments will be discussed.
Consider:

1. Does the expected outcome justify undergoing the surgery?

2. Healing may take a little longer, especially if you have impaired circulation or less-than-ideal nutritional levels.

3. Most elderly persons recover better when they are able to get back on their feet and remain active. In-office procedures usually allow a faster return to mobility.

Your podiatrist will be able to give you a clear picture of what will be involved, and will help you decide whether or not you are a good candidate for foot surgery.

Spinach dip tasty, partyers all agree

Senior citizens of the Round Lake Area were treated to a nutritional cooking seminar on Wednesday, March 23, by representatives of Round Lake Senior High School. The demonstration was conducted at the new senior citizen complex in the Round Lake Park Dist. Community Center on Hart Rd. in Round Lake.

Round Lake High School Home Economist Karen Pierce, along with student members of her class, prepared and served the participants samples of tasty nutritional hors d'oeuvres prepared by the students. The treats were a low-calorie spinach dip served on rye bread. Senior citizens not even fond of spinach agreed they were tasty and delicious.

"It's very important to consume nutritional foods, at any age, but especially as we grow older," said Pierce, "and even negative food can be prepared in an appetizing fashion with a little imagination."

The guests were also treated to a short film on "Light Cooking," demonstrating cutting back of fats and salts in the preparation of meals.

Director of senior citizen programs for the park district, Michelle Smith, added, "The seminar was very educational, and our seniors were very receptive and really enjoyed the great food."

Pliska will head UIC Finance Dept.

The appointment of Stanley R. Pliska as head of the department of finance at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) has been approved by the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

Born in Los Angeles in 1944, Pliska received an undergraduate degree in aeronautical engineering in 1965 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He held positions in operations research in the private sector before completing graduate studies at Stanford University.

The Eye Care Center of Lake County

A series on eye care, developed for seniors by Barry L. Seiller, MD

What Is A Low Vision Center?

Its sole purpose is to help people who have reduced vision, or whose sight can not be helped by conventional means including eyeglasses or contact lenses.

Who Does A Low Vision Center Help?

The Center helps low vision patients—or those who have symptoms including the following: blurred or distorted vision, high sensitivity to glare, night blindness, loss of central or peripheral vision, or loss of half the field of vision. It may have been brought about by specific diseases of the eye including macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy, glaucoma, cataracts, corneal scarring, or retinal deterioration or detachment.

How Can A Low Vision Center Help Such Patients?

Its doctors and staff evaluate the remaining sight of patients, prescribe low vision aids and instruct patients in the use of these aids. They also provide training and information to help patients make the most effective use of their limited vision.

What Kinds Of Aids Are Prescribed?

These aids include everything from special lenses to magnifiers, and from telescopes to large print materials. The staff at a low vision center works with each patient to find those low vision aids that will fit into their lifestyle while maximizing their vision at the same time.

If you need more information about a Low Vision Center, please call Marcia Tobocman, our Community Services Representative at 244-2176.

Great time of life', seniors tell survey people are more active, involved and optimistic about life than commonly thought, according to a statewide survey of older people just released by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

The survey findings redefine 'old' in today's society and dispel many negative 'myths of aging,' said E. Desch, senior vice president of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

People -- particularly in our 'retired' culture -- incorrectly view the elderly as feeble, inactive and about life. They tend to view aging as a time of isolation, impotence and absorption. According to the survey, nothing could be further from the truth," said Desch.

The 502 older Illinoisans who participated in the survey range in age from 70 to 102 and come from throughout Illinois (45 percent from Chicago and suburbs; 31 percent from Central Illinois; 13 percent from Northern Illinois outside of metro Chicago; and 11 percent from Southern Illinois). Half the respondents are widowed and 43 percent are married. Nearly half (47 percent) live alone and 40 percent live with their spouses, while another 3 percent live with their spouses and other family members. A vast majority (86 percent) have children and virtually all of these respondents have grandchildren, as well. The group reported over 1,100 great-grandchildren among them.

The survey revealed that:

Eighty-nine percent of respondents say that they are often (78 percent) or sometimes (11 percent) satisfied with their current lives.

Eighty-nine percent say that they are able to work; 88 percent of these respondents list volunteer activities for community, charitable, health or church-related organizations and 36 percent list paid professional, business or service employment.

Ninety-two percent say they are physically active and report a range of activities that includes sports, socializing, volunteer work and related activities, as well as hobbies.

Seventy-five percent say that their health does not interfere with doing what they like most. Of those who do find that their health interferes, 55 percent reported having developed new interests to compensate.

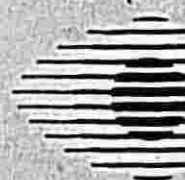

Reduced Vision Screening

If poor vision is changing the way you live, and you feel your independence is in jeopardy, The Eye Care Center of Lake County may be able to help.

We offer the latest technology to quickly and easily test your eyesight. A doctor will be present to discuss your test results and to answer your questions.

Find upbeat views about senior status

There's nothing wrong with getting older. Age is an asset, according to a large number of senior citizens responding to a survey about how Illinois oldsters view themselves.

Twenty percent of the respondents said they view aging as an asset. As one 75-year-old respondent put it:

"It's a great advantage. I am at the height of my powers. My age and experience have given me the knowledge which I am now able to share with others."

More than half the respondents made positive comments about their present lives when asked to give their thoughts about their age. These remarks concerned how rewarding, interesting, happy or full their lives are; how grateful they are for continued good health; and surprise (as well as gratitude) in having lived so long.

"The survey shows older people to be active, involved, progressive, nurturing of others and wise in their assessment of life," said Victoria Bumagin, Director of the Chicago's Center for Applied Gerontology and consultant to Blue Cross on the project. "Taken together, the findings offer a portrait of older people and their life experience which is diametrically opposed to the stereotype."

The respondents were particularly eloquent about how their viewpoints have changed over the years and what they have learned about life.

About changing perspectives, a 101-year-old man wrote that "I am not as sure about some things as I was 30 years ago. Indeed I wish I could be as sure now about anything as I used to be cock-sure about everything." About coping with life's ups and downs, an 82-year-old man wrote "Don't take (life) too seriously - you can't get out alive..."

A 76-year-old woman offered the following advice for maximizing life, "Live each day to the fullest. We never know God's plan for tomorrow. Each day is a miracle with beauty free for the seeking." An 88-year old woman wrote that "to be truly happy you must seek ways to bring happiness to others..."

Bumagin also noted that the survey showed the enduring importance of "traditional" values - family, religion and spirituality - among older people. "These values appear to give a meaning to life which helps sustain vitality," she said.

One 73-year-old man summed up the importance of spirituality this way, "I believe that religious faith is required to accept yourself and others (and) for values and purpose in life..."

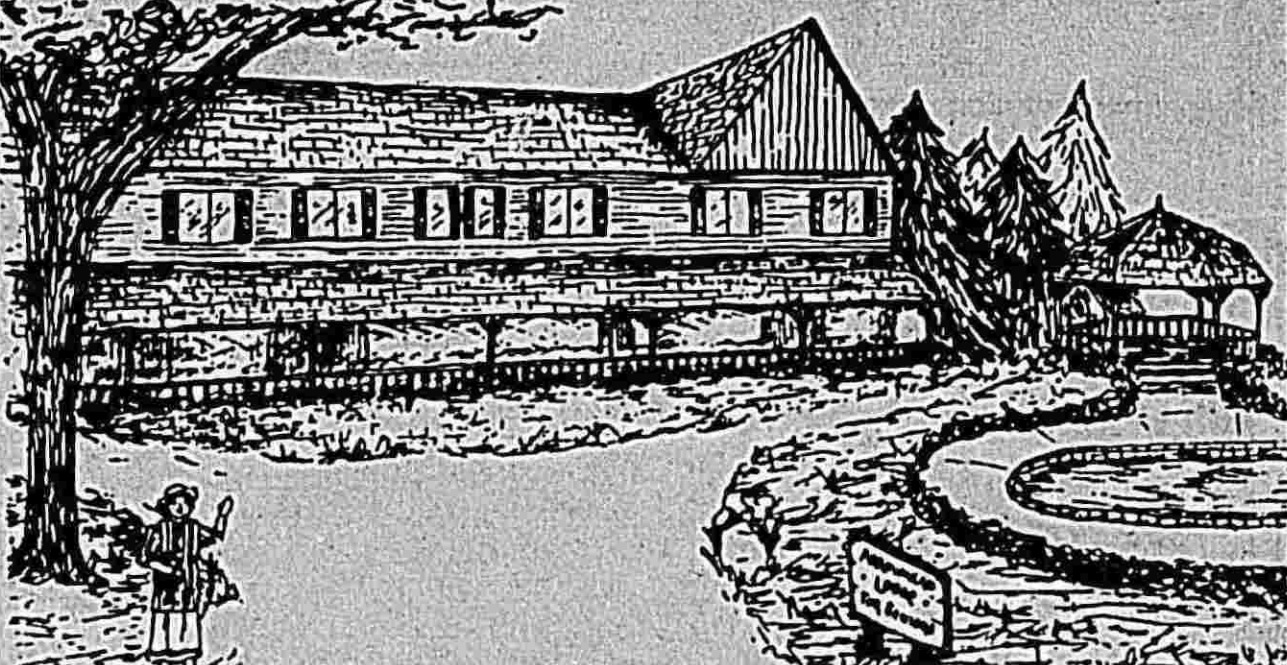

Another interesting finding is the degree to which the respondents acquire new information and adopt new points of view. For instance, a large number reported learning new information or skills recently, including the use of new electronic equipment, such as computers and microwave ovens.

And 32 percent reported changing their eating habits in recent years, apparently in accordance with contemporary wisdom on nutrition - eliminating or reducing the intake of sugar, fat, cholesterol, salt, red meat, high-calorie food; cutting overall calorie consumption; or incorporating more fruits and vegetables into their diets. The group appears to eschew the potential health risks associated with smoking, as well: 87 percent say they rarely or never smoke and 11 percent said that they cut down or quit smoking in recent years.

The survey was conducted last fall in connection with the "Blue Cross Golden Anniversary Salute to Older Illinoisans," a commemoration of the company's fiftieth Anniversary. In consultation with Bumagin, Blue Cross designed a questionnaire composed of 34 multiple choice and open-ended questions. The questionnaire, which explored the respondents' interpersonal relationships, their impact on others, level of physical and mental activity, as well as their philosophical outlook, was mailed to 650 older people who were nominated by friends, family and colleagues from throughout the state. The responses were computer tabulated by Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Bumagin worked with Blue Cross staff in preparing an analysis of the data.

"The survey redefines what it means to be 'old' in this day and age," said Desch.

Complete St. Therese transfer

The Franciscan Sisters Health Care Corp. has completed transactions which transfer the ownership of Lakeview Medical Center, Danville, and Saint Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, to FSHCC.

Lakeview Medical Center has 245 licensed beds, and St. Therese Medical Center has 396 licensed beds, bringing the total licensed beds owned by FSHCC to over 1,800. These acquisitions make the Franciscan Sisters Health Care Corp. one of the largest providers of health care services in Illinois.

"The boards of both Lakeview Medical Center and Saint Therese Medical Center recognized the need to become part of a multi-hospital system to operate effectively in today's health care competitive marketplace," stated Sister Dismas Janssen, OSF, chairman of the board and president of FSHCC.

She indicated that "FSHCC has a reputation of top quality, caring service and a strong financial base. These qualities will continue to be emphasized as we continue to expand our role as a health care provider in Illinois." FSHCC also operates Saint Joseph Medical Center in Joliet, Saint Joseph Hospital in Elgin, Saint Anthony Hospital in Chicago, Saint Elizabeth Hospital in Danville, Franciscan Nursing Home in Joliet, Sacred Heart Home and LaVerna Terrace in Avilla, Ind., Franciscan Home Health based in Geneva, and SaCor Systems in Joliet.

St. Therese Medical Center was formerly owned and operated by the Missionary Sisters Servants of the Holy Spirit. The Missionary Sisters continue to operate a small hospital in rural Iowa and a nursing home in Maryland.

Time to get ready for floods

Residents of the Chicago metropolitan area are probably accustomed to the unpredictable weather trends that occur in the city throughout the year. But the flood disasters of August, 1987 and September-October, 1986, proved that many people are not necessarily prepared for heavy rains and other conditions that can cause floods any time of the year, not just in spring, says Alan Altheimer, chairman of disaster services for the American Red Cross, Mid-America Chapter.

According to the Red Cross, on a nationwide basis, each year 200 persons are killed and more than $2 billion worth of property is damaged or destroyed from floods. The August, 1987 flood alone affected over 11,000 families living in the Chicago area, and required expenditures of nearly $65 million, Mid-America Red Cross chapter and Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) records showed.

"Taking the necessary precautions and being aware of the possible dangers in a flooding situation can help alleviate or diminish property damage and injuries or deaths caused by flash floods," Altheimer said.

If you live in a flood-prone area, the American Red Cross suggests that you follow these preparatory and precautionary steps:

-Verify that home and family members are covered under flood insurance.

-Know where the main electric and gas switches in the home are located, in case you have to find them without much warning.

-Keep a flashlight, extra batteries and a portable radio at hand.

If a flood occurs or is imminent in your area:

-Move furnishings and appliances to the highest level possible.

-Attach identification tags to your belongings.

-Turn off main electric and gas switches.

-If time permits, remove electric motors and oil and gas burners from stoves, furnaces and other fixed appliances and stow them out of reach of expected flood levels.

-Cover electric outlets with tape to keep out mud.

-Stack sandbags away from outside foundations. (Do not place them against the foundation, or the pressure of underground water may cave in basement walls.)

-If evacuation is necessary, take important documents, prescription drugs, eyeglasses, a change of clothing, special foods, toys and books for children, and blankets.

All persons living in a flood prone area should be familiar with the following terms in the case of imminent flooding conditions, Altheimer advised.

-Flash flood watch means heavy rains may result in flash flooding in the specified area. Residents should remain alert and prepare for immediate action if flood conditions warrant.

-Flash flood warning means flash flooding is occurring or is imminent in the specified area. Persons should immediately evacuate their homes and move to safer ground.

The mission of the American Red Cross is to help people avoid, prepare for and cope with emergencies. The Mid-America Chapter covers a 3,500-square-mile area encompassing Chicago, Cook County and five surrounding counties, providing disaster preparedness and relief services to military families and veterans, and health and safety programs for seven million people.

Sheriff

aided in advance, something that had been done before. It was a stroke.

The move guaranteed election. Two police chiefs, Clinton Grinnell and E.J. "Chick" LaMagdeleine, devoted himself to party politics, County Board politics of getting better pay for deputies and bigger budgets to cope with mushrooming city growth, and restoration of a mansion on Highlake Lake that was a treasured joint project for a husband and wife.

The system of management worked. He was re-elected in 1986. There hasn't been a hint of impropriety in the operation of the Babcox administration. Lake County is building a state-of-the-art jail and law enforcement is in good hands. Babcox's well groomed management team provided an easy transition during his incapacitation.

Mickey's career in public life spanned four decades. He helped write a good bit of the county's political history from the early 1950's into the '80's. Because of his knowledge, experience and love for politics, it was inevitable that he would become the Godfather of the Lake County GOP. He didn't seek the mantle, but he didn't shirk the leadership role. It was something that he had to try.

Lake County officials attend Babcox's funeral

Lake County officials paid their last respects to Robert H. "Mickey" Babcox. Funeral services were held Thursday at Strang Funeral Chapel in Grayslake. Babcox served Lake County for more than 20 years as coroner and then as County Sheriff. He died Monday after a long illness in his home in Highland Lake.

Rev. Lisle J. Kauffman of Calvary Lutheran Church in Round Lake and Rev. James Marelo, Chaplain at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan, officiated at Babcox's funeral. Neil Babcox is a minister in New Jersey.

Another son, Michael is employed in Grayslake at Strang Funeral Chapel. Babcox's daughter, Leslie, is a teacher at Grayslake Community High School.

Survivors also include his mother, Lilian and wife, Arden.

Babcox had three sisters - Laurel, daughter of Gurnee, Ione Elmandorf of Thousand Oaks, CA and Donita Smith of Mesa, CA.

Burial was in at Highland Memorial Cemetery, Warren Twp.

Babcox was preceded in death by his father, Hugh, on Feb. 4, 1977.

Motorcyclists shoot man

An annual "coming out" party held by two motorcycle groups at the Lake Villa VFW ended in a shooting early Sunday morning.

James Muller, 36, of Waukegan was shot in the arm while attempting to enter the bathroom at the VFW.

According to Lake Villa Police Chief John Debevic, police were called to the scene shortly after the shooting.

The bullet entered Muller's arm and exited his shoulder. Police have made no arrests in connection with the incident.

Richardson serves as sheriff following Babcox's death

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson served as Sheriff of Lake County for two days following the death of Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox.

According to law, the coroner acts as sheriff if the present sheriff dies in office.

Babcox died March 21 following a long illness.

"The County Board met Friday to declare the position vacant," Richardson said.

Richardson explained that the next step will be to appoint an acting sheriff. The two central committees of the recognized parties were expected to be notified of the vacancy and will select candidates for a special election in November. Richardson said she expected Deputy Sheriff Clint Grinnell to be named Acting Sheriff.

The coroner said she and Grinnell have been meeting since Babcox's death to discuss the running of the sheriff's office.

"It is rather quiet. The county has lost a great man," Richardson said Wednesday of the mood at the Lake County Building in Waukegan.

Flags at the Lake County Building as well as throughout municipalities were flown at half-staff in honor of the late Babcox.

Babcox, a Grayslake resident, served as coroner of Lake County from 1952-64 and 1978-82. He won his first term for sheriff in 1982 and was re-elected in 1986.

Arbor Day deadline approaching

March 31 is the deadline for area schools to order seedling trees from the Dept. of Conservation for Arbor Day programs.

"This Arbor Day program is very special because it gives children and their parents a chance to share the experience of planting a small tree and watching it grow over the years," said State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion). "Trees grown in the conservation department's state nurseries are usually restricted for reforestation purposes but this program is an exception because of the educational value it has for children throughout the state."

Species available this year for Arbor Day programs include hackberry, white oak, red oak, green ash, white pine and bald cypress. Seedlings are $2.50 per packet of 25 trees and orders are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis.

The tree seedlings are available for distribution to children in kindergarten through eighth grade. Schools ordering seedlings will receive packets outlining a sample Arbor Day program that teachers can develop for their students, including instructions for care and distribution of seedlings, background information about the various species and materials stressing the importance of tree planting.

Order forms and more information are available by calling the Division of Forest Resources at (217)782-2361 or writing to Mike Reichenbach, Urban Conservation Program Manager, Dept. of Conservation, Division of Forest Resources, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62701-1787.

Board to meet

The Board of Education of Lake Villa School Dist. 41 has cancelled the March 23, board meeting. The regular board meeting will be held on April 6, at 8 p.m. at the Pleviak School.

Peterson is one of the most prominent Republicans speaking out in favor of Bell to head a reorganization of the Republican organization.

As required by statutes, newly elected precinct committee persons will meet in convention at 7:30 p.m. March 28, at Celebrity's, 630 S. Green Bay Rd., Waukegan to elect a chairman for the next two years.

Bell, a leader of the opposition to Neal's unsuccessful campaign to install the county executive form of government, announced his candidacy Monday, March 21.

A retired industrialist who still is active in a family business, Bell has been circulating a letter detailing his involvement in Republican politics for the past 50 years.

"I go back to the Hoover days," chuckled Bell, who is Fremont Township Republican chairman and long-time supervisor of the township. Bell also is a former County Board chairman, serving on the Lake County Board when township supervisors still formed that governing body.

"I want precinct committeemen to be familiar with my record," stated Bell, who vowed before the March 15 primary that he would do "everything possible" to replace Neal in the party post.

Bell said he was delighted Peterson would come forward in support of his candidacy. Bell said he had the backing of seven township chairmen as of Monday.

Peterson is supervisor of Vernon Township and Vernon Township GOP chairman.

Previously, he had worked closely with Neal when Neal formed an alliance with the late Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox.

The sheriff's untimely death Monday evening is being looked upon by political observers as having a big impact on proceedings at the GOP reorganization meeting.

As one committeeman put it, "Neal doesn't have anyone calling the shots anymore. He's on his own now and he doesn't know what to do."

Atty. Jay Ukena of Waukegan announced over the weekend that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself as Democratic county chairman for a third term.

Prominently mentioned as a successor to Ukena is Betty Ann Moore of Lake Bluff, Shields Township Democratic chairperson and an aide to State Rep. Grace Mary Stern (D-Highland Park). Moore is a member of the Lake County Planning Commission.

Democratic committeemen will choose new leadership at a meeting in Waukegan, Monday at LuJon's.

How to avoid getting 'conned'

Spring is just around the corner in Illinois, but so is the latest wave of con artists, ready to do 'business' with other people's money and property.

According to police, the number of confidence games and swindles picks up when the weather does. Home repair fraud often occurs just when people start thinking about spring cleaning and fixing up their houses, and vacation swindlers take advantage of people making summer travel plans.

In a new brochure, Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority describes ways in which citizens lose hard-earned dollars each year to hustlers. The free brochure, which features McGruff the Crime Dog, also offers some tips to help people avoid becoming the victim of a number of scams, including fraudulent bank transactions, home inspections and low-cost vacations.

For example:

-Don't ever expect to get something for nothing; offers that seem too good to be true usually are.

-Get the terms of vacation and repair deals in writing, before handing over any money.

-Be wary of transactions that can only be completed in cash or with a credit card over the phone.

-Never discuss personal finances with strangers even if they look official.

Though certain scams often target older people, everyone needs to be alert. Also, cities are not necessarily the only scenes of confidence games and swindles; shopping malls in suburban areas and smaller towns are common targets as well.

The brochure is being distributed by the 451 police departments that participate in the statewide McGruff crime prevention campaign.

For single copies of the brochure or other crime prevention information, write the Authority at 120 S. Riverside Plaza, Chicago, 60606-3997, or call (800)4-MCGRUFF. Bulk quantities are available from local police departments or from the Authority while supplies last.

Safe Place aids abused women

by IRIS MAYFIELD

The most prevalent crime in the U.S., the one that happens more than all the robberies by crazed junkies creeping about in the dark to steal for their next fix, is violence against women.

The FBI says it happens every 12 seconds. In 25 percent of reported cases, the women are pregnant. What goes on "behind closed doors" has taken on new meaning. Violence against women is called the silent crime because it is grossly under reported.

The National Institute of Mental Health says violence against women, commonly referred to as wife battering, can happen to "any woman who maintains an intimate relationship with a man." It is "violence that can cause serious injury and death." It happens to wives, divorcees, and girlfriends. The woman can be 18 or 80 years old.

The Institute offers a typical description of the physical harm suffered by battered women in shelters and treatment in California.

"Most injuries were to the head and neck and, in addition to bruises, strangle marks, black eyes, and split lips, resulted in eye damage, fractured jaws, broken noses, and permanent hearing loss. Assaults to the trunk of the body were almost as common and produced a broken collarbone, bruised and broken ribs, a fractured tailbone, internal hemorrhaging, and a lacerated liver."

A Safe Place, Lake County Crisis Center, is trying to respond to some of the thousands of area women crying out in the night. It is a shelter for victims of domestic abuse and operates a 24-hour crisis line for any woman to call at (312)249-4450.

The crisis line is answered by staff and trained volunteers. It provides women in crisis with the chance to release feelings of frustration, depression, anxiety and helplessness. The objective is to calm the caller and help her identify options and resources available.

The staff and volunteers provide support, information and referrals if necessary. Women who are experiencing physical or emotional abuse receive detailed information about the shelter and counseling services.

Most importantly, domestic violence victims can talk to someone who will listen and who cares.

A Safe Place opened in February, 1980. It is operated by Executive Director Barbara Bergard and Director of Resource Development Susan Abderholden, along with seven counselors, one family advocate, one coordinator of volunteers, and 32 volunteers.

They provide a full scope of programs that strive to assist victims of domestic violence in all phases of need. They offer immediate help over the phone, a safe place to live for the abused woman and her children, and medical assistance. They assist women through court cases, have support groups and offer counseling for all family members.

A Safe Place can house a total of 18 women and children at one time. The shelter offers a place of safety and support with a six-week residency program for abused women and their children. The shelter's facilities include bedrooms to accommodate all sizes of families, a laundry room, and a stocked pantry and clothing room. It also has an inviting playroom with an overflowing toy box, a dining room, and a woman's living room.

In dispelling myths about violence against women, Bergard said, "It's a fallacy that women deserve to be beaten." She also said that abuse crosses all socio-economic, educational, religious, racial, cultural, and geographic lines.

In their seven years of operation, the shelter has provided direct services to over 6,000 people. In 1987, 117 women and 173 children took refuge in the shelter. An additional 627 women, children and men received services as non-residents.

In its efforts to assist the varied needs of battered women, A Safe Place has two satellite support groups, one in Vernon Hills and one in Round Lake. The Vernon Hills group reaches out to residents of western, central western, and southern Lake County.

A court intervention program, Intervention Program for Domestic Abuse and Violence (IPDAV), is designed to interrupt the abuse cycle by training others in the legal system to recognize domestic violence as a criminal act, to protect the rights of the abused, and to penalize and treat the abuser.

A training seminar conducted by A Safe Place for over 100 police officers in the Lake County area focuses on the law enforcement role in domestic violence situations, understanding the Illinois Domestic Violence Act, proper procedures in obtaining an order of protection, and statistical information about domestic violence.

The IPDAV coordinator is present in the Lake County misdemeanor court where domestic violence cases are determined. The coordinator works closely with the State's Attorney to help women in getting orders of protection and explains what will happen when she appears before the presiding judge.

With this support, women are able to appear before the judge, remain calm, and describe the abuse they have experienced.

Court advocacy is available to non-residents of the shelter, as well as residents. Also, information and referral services are available to all victims of abuse, not just residents of the shelter, Bergard says.

A Safe Place serves Lake, McHenry, and Northern Cook Counties. It is the only provider of a comprehensive program geared for not only the treatment of domestic violence, but for its prevention as well, Bergard says.

One part of the comprehensive program is the minority support group. It "offers a system of support for battered women of color with special attention given to cultural, environmental differences, language barriers and economic considerations."

The Individual Counseling program provides a bilingual counselor for Spanish-speaking women and children. This program addresses a variety of needs.

"There is a pattern to abuse that brings about a loss of self-confidence," said Bergard. "It shows up in many areas of the woman's life, including parenting skills." She continued, "After a woman experiences continual verbal abuse, she's so needy and self-doubting that at some time she has a breaking point, because she can't meet everyone's needs, much less her own." Bergard says that 90 percent of women who enter an abusive relationship as a confident individual become low self-esteem end products.

Another part of the comprehensive program is the Children's Program, designed to relieve the suffering of children who have been exposed to violence in their homes. Also, it is designed to break the intergenerational cycle of abuse that has been handed down from father to son.

The Children's Program is presented in three phases. The first phase is counseling to provide children with a much needed sense of security, an understanding of abuse, and improved social skills.

The second phase works to build the relationship between parent and child. Through lecture, discussion and role play, parents are given the tools to rebuild their families.

The third phase is a follow-up home visit to women and children no longer living at the shelter. A counselor works with the family on contracted goals regarding the improvement of family dynamics and communication.

Safe Place aids abusive mates too

by IRIS MAYFIELD

Executive Director of A Safe Place Lake County Crisis Center Barbara Bergard described what happens in little boys lives that carries through in manhood to make them abusers. She said that between 60 and 80 percent of abusers grow up in abusive homes. They equate love with violence because they saw their mothers abused.

"Remember, violence is a learned behavior, she said. "More abusers are oldest boys. If a boy is the oldest, he tends to be very aggressive." She added that the boy is often a bully.

Then, in manhood, when in a relationship, the abuser develops tendencies to keep his mate isolated from friends and family. He often will see that his mate has no access to money. "The abuser needs to be in control with power plays," Bergard said. "Emotional abuse has her dangling all the time," adding "a fear that any moment it may happen."

Bergard further identified abusers as tending to be charismatic and manipulative. "They do not take responsibility for their own behavior. They play the victim, 'You're doing this to me.'"

"This whole macho image, the car crashes, guns, make it (violence) seem almost acceptable," Bergard said.

The National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) points out that, in general, public opinion supports traditional family relations and male authority. The Institute says, "The battering syndrome is both cause and effect of stereotyped roles and the unequal power relations between men and women."

NIMH says, "A wife abuser tends to be filled with anger, resentment, suspicion, and tension. He also, underneath all his aggressive behavior, can be insecure and feel like a loser."

The Institute says the wife abuser goes through three stages. The tension-building stage builds over small occurrences such as a wife's not serving a meal pleasing to him. Next is the explosion or beating stage. Lastly, when the beating is over, "The batterer feels guilty about what he has done. He is sorry and may become loving towards her." This is the loving stage. "He assures his wife that he will never do anything violent or hurtful to her again. However, even with professional help, the tension building and the beatings may continue."

A Safe Place is for treatment of the man also. Bergard said, "We encourage the man to take responsibility for his behavior. No one deserves to be beaten."

Farina contributes

Mundelein High graduate Mike Farina has emerged in just his freshman year as one of the top performers for the Minnesota Golden Gophers men's gymnastics squad. Farina's all-around average of 56.15 leads the team, and his 57.05 score against Wisconsin is the top mark posted by a Gopher this year. Farina has the team's highest average on both the parallel bars and the high bar, averaging 9.45 and 9.55 in the respective events. He has also set team marks this season for best performances in those events. The versatile Farina, who averages 9.0 on all six events, is expected to be one of the top performers at NCAA and Big Ten meets.

Minnesota was ranked fifth in the country before the Big Ten meet. The team scored 283.3 points against Iowa for the top showing of the year. Minnesota is 8-0 in dual meets.

Top wrestlers

Two Carl Sandburg Middle School students advanced to the Illinois Elementary School Assn. state meet at Round Lake High School.

Eric Browne, a seventh grader, won his first match at 85 pounds, lost the second and then won the next four in a row to take third place.

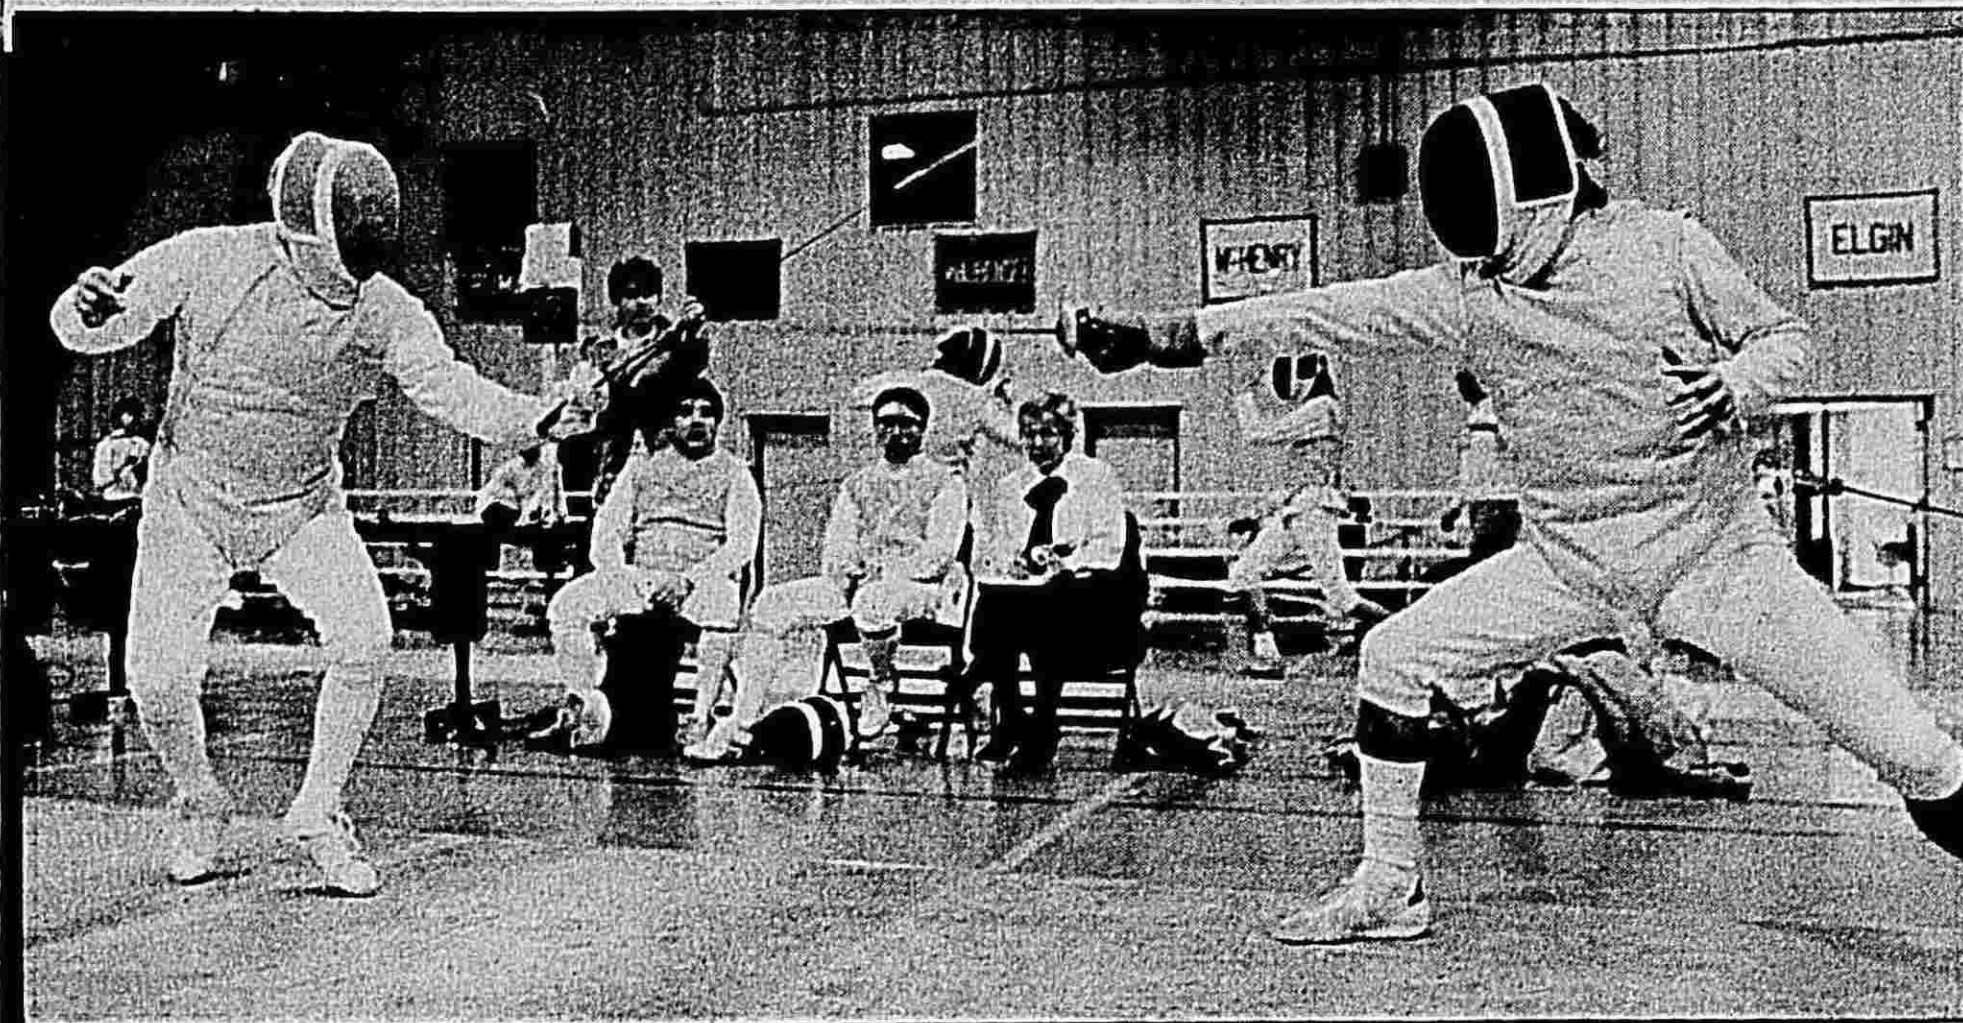

Mark Geagarden, an eighth grade wrestler at 155 pounds, advanced to the state meet but lost in his first match.

Evanston ousted

Warren fans hoping their Blue Devils lost to the eventual state champions were disappointed with Friday night's Class AA basketball quarterfinal results.

Evanston, which beat Warren 66-61 at the Elgin Supersectional, fell to state champ East St. Louis Lincoln 80-56. East St. Louis Lincoln then beat St. Francis de Sales for the Class AA title.

Against the Wildkits, East St. Louis led 18-9 after one, 40-22 at halftime. Juvon McGarry, who scored 32 points against Warren, was held to 13 by the Tigers. Tyrone Bell had 20 points and Brian Robinson 10 for Evanston.

CLC softball squad heading south to prepare for brand new season

Softball in northern Illinois and the month of March often do not go well together.

So the College of Lake County women's softball team decided to do something about. The solution: head south.

The Lancers will be playing (if weather permits) 10 games in three states on a southern swing before returning north to start the Skyway Conference battles.

"With the weather, we will not know if we are going to be able to get our games in before the trip. I called down to Missouri and Kansas and they said they were playing outside. It (the trip) should put us ahead of the game," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

The Lancers spent much of the winter months selling candy and holding fundraisers to pay for the trip. It will begin in Jolpin, MO with four games at Crowder College's tournament. Next stop is Hutchinson, KA for another three games followed by a four-game tournament in Ranger, Texas.

Garcia is in her second year at the helm of CLC and the Lancers set some pretty lofty goals to better this year: CLC was undefeated in 12 Skyway Conference games en route to the league title. In non-conference play, though, the Lancers were 9-13.

"Our defense and our pitching are both looking pretty good," Garcia said.

Last year's top pitcher, Libertyville's Jill Tegtmeier returns after posting a 12-12 record. Tegtmeier was named as the most valuable player in the Skyway Conference and made the region four team.

"She's been working on a rise ball," Garcia said.

Lisa Gowe, who compiled a 15-2 record for Warren last year, will also be pitching. Both pitchers will have to throw the ball 43 feet to home plate instead of 40 in previous years. "The extra three feet is to the hitters' advantage," Garcia said.

Gowe and Tegtmeier will be throwing to a reliable catcher in Debbie Scoggins. Scoggins, a Zion grad, hit .271 in her freshman season.

Warren product Kelly Hanson, an all-Skyway Conference selection, returns at shortstop. Hanson was CLC's leading hitter last year, batting .324.

Freshman will be filling most of the infield positions this year.

Deerfield's Pam Wignot will be at first, Zion's Jill Garross at second and North Chicago graduate Melodie Robertson at third. Soph Wendy Christina will be at second base.

The outfield positions will depend on who is pitching. Gowe will be in right when she is not on the mound and Dianna Brua, a Carmel product and Robertson will be in left.

Maria Lasheff, a Wauconda grad, Kathy Asplund of Woodstock and Sue Habel of Grayslake also will play. Yvonne Hilson, of North Chicago, will be a catcher and outfielder.

Once the Lancers return from the south, they face Elgin in the first Skyway battle. The Lancers' schedule is pretty much the same as last year, with the addition of Carl Sandburg as a non-league foe.

McHenry is expected to give CLC its biggest league challenge, Garcia said. The Lancers beat the Scots three straight times last year, only to lose in the sectional.

1987-88 basketball season:
a winter to remember forever

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

It all started back in October.

I received a letter from Mundelein basketball Coach Dennis Kessel inviting myself and other members of the press to an upcoming midnight basketball practice. The press would be invited to participate in pre-practice contests to commence the start of the 1987-88 basketball season. Great, finally a chance to use the hours of off-season basketball practice and free-throw shooting.

In a shoot-around the effort fell just short 30-29 (I still say a two-pointer was three). But overall, 60 games plus later one can say the season was successful.

The highlight was Warren's girls making it to the Elite Eight in Championship. The 61-54 win over Rockford Boylan at Round Lake and the emotional celebration that followed will be something remembered for quite some time by everyone involved.

For the boys teams, Round Lake and Warren both posted 20-win seasons. Round Lake, paced by a powerful frontline led by Brian Richardson, won the Northwest Suburban Conference and was the survivor of the Round Lake-Grant-Grayslake intense battles.

Overtime

The Blue Devils advanced to the Sweet Sixteen by beating Round Lake and Waukegan East in overtime. Warren came into the supersectional game against Evanston as decided underdogs, but rallied from 13 points down at halftime. The win by Evanston marked the second time in three years that the Wildkits had eliminated an area team at Elgin's supersectional.

All told, six of the 12 teams finished better than .500. A favorable draw by the IHSA assured either Round Lake or Warren from making the sectional final. Last year Grant and Carmel were eliminated in the sectional opener.

A capsule look at the teams:

Warren (24-6): "We have to start over," Coach Darrel Bader said just after the loss to Evanston. The Blue Devils appear to be starting from scratch, as they lose starters Derek Shelton, Dave Sjong, Matt Lingenfelter, Dave Nolan all to graduation. Mark Eifert, a 6-1 center, returns in the middle and Qasim Dominguez ran the offense at times when Shelton was in foul trouble. But don't count Warren out yet. Any team which can play defense like the Blue Devils do at all levels should be competitive.

Round Lake (20-9): Like Warren, the Lake Zurich's Foss finishes with bang for Huskies

Lake Zurich High School product Lisa Foss helped Northern Illinois University dominate the women's basketball All-North Star Conference first team.

Foss as well as fellow NIU sophomore Carol Owens was one of the two youngest players selected. Also on the first team were: Notre Dame's Sandy Botham, Dayton's Tobette Pleasant and DePaul's Diana Vines. Notre Dame Coach Muffet McGaw received coach of the year honors.

"I think that's a high honor for our program and for those two individuals. That's tremendous to have the two youngest players there. It says two things for us: we are a team of the future and we have an inside and outside attack and that is how you develop a team," NIU Coach Jane Albright said.

Foss, who led Lake Zurich to the Elite Eight, led the Huskies in scoring from start to finish, concluding the 1987-88 campaign with a 10.6 points per game average. That was good enough for second in the league. She was the DeKalb school's all-time leading scorer for a soph with 548 points. She had scored in double figures in all but one contest going into NIU's last game of the regular season. Foss, a two-time league player-of-the-week, led the team in field goals (240), free-throw percentage (84), steals (67) and minutes played (915).

Foss established a single-game shooting record by making 11 of 12 against Dayton, 91 percent. Her 11 field goals came after a miss and went on to make the first seven field goal tries against Dayton, adding up to 18 straight. Fifteen field goals in 22 tries against Valparaiso University also tied a standard set by Doreen Zierer in 1982 against Bowling Green State.

The former Bear established a season record for free-throw percentage and was the youngest Huskie and seventh female to eclipse the 1,000 point mark. She finished with 1,003 points heading to her junior year.

Warren's will lose some big contributors to graduation. Richardson, Todd Collis, Tim Unroe, Jeff Shook, and Tim Dunn all graduate. And like Warren, the Panthers start over with a new player in the middle, 6-4 Jason Day. Grant (19-8): the Bulldogs biggest challenge will be to replace 6-5 center Tony Culotta. Guard Kip Paul will return to guide the Bulldogs offense.

Grayslake (15-9): the Rams have one of the brightest futures of any of the teams. Timm West, team MVP and all-Northwest Suburban Conference, will return for Coach Greg Groth. Tim Hough, a 5-8 guard, will return to guide the offense along with Jim Neuman.

North Chicago (15-11): James Coles graduates but Elbert Moore and Cassius Crittendon along with Eugene Williams all return for Coach Joe Wharton. Warhawks posted above .500 team for first time in several years and figure to do so again next year.

Carmel (15-11): the Corsairs' highlight was an upset of league champion St. Joseph. First-year Coach Scott Rosberg saw his team play in streaks.

Stevenson (10-15): the Patriots were a hard-luck team this year, good enough to win several of the games they lost but losing the close ones. Cleveland Tyson, a 6-2 forward, will be the biggest returnee. Guard J.T. Kellock will also return and guide Coach George Katich's offense.

Mundelein (9-17): Mustang guards Jason Rundall and Steve Hartmann lead the returning Mustangs. Coach Kessel will be looking for big things inside from Tim Ulrich.

Johnsburg (9-17): the Skyhawks gained just one game from last year, but Coach Jeff Lewiston is hoping improved attitude carries over. Biggest task is to find someone to fill role of guard Chris Diedrich and Tom Valant.

Lake Zurich (8-17): Guard Scott Krzeminski returns to guide the Bears. Beyond that, though, the Bears look to be an inexperienced team.

Wauconda (0-23): one of these days, the law of averages has to be on Wauconda's side. The award for Most Enthusiastic Coach of the Year has to go to Charles Walsh. The Bulldogs' closest chances to breaking a two-year losing streak came at Grayslake and against Cary-Grove. Through it all, Walsh remained optimistic in his first year. The second year, though, features the loss of leading scorer Chuck Cermak. The sophomore team only one game.

Blue Devils aim for unity, victories in baseball trip

Warren's baseball team will be looking for togetherness and toning of their skills during a trip to southern Illinois next week.

The Blue Devils will leave Gurnee March 28 and will, Mother Nature permitting, play six games.

"Hopefully one of the things you develop on a spring trip is team unity," Warren Coach Ron Shelton said.

Shelton said the Blue Devils used to take pre-season trips regularly between 1970 and 1983. With the North Suburban a ten-team league, the squads do not have much of a chance for non-conference games. The spring trip, then, will give the Blue Devils a chance to get a jump on the competition.

Warren opens the spring trip March 29 at Johnson City. The Devils then face Ana-Jonesboro in a single game and have a doubleheader against Heron April 1. The trip concludes at Murphysboro on April 2.

"Your benefits from the trip will come early in the year," Shelton said.

Once the Blue Devils return to Gurnee, they will be looking to improve on last year's 11-17, 5-13 NSC record.

Warren will be fielding a number of returning lettermen this year, so the experience factor should be a plus.

Three-year starter and all-NSC performer Derek Shelton returns at catcher. Shortstop Brendt Howard, who also has started since his sophomore season, returns for Warren as well.

Third baseman-pitcher Steve Zager, Chris Lux at second and part-time starter Mark Graham all return for Warren. Graham is the leading candidate to start at first base, but there are juniors pushing him for playing time as well.

Pitching could be a problem for Warren, especially early in the season. "Our pitchers are real young," Shelton said.

Zager, who was 1-4 last year, is the only returning player with much pitching experience.

Three transfers to

Warren may see playing time as well. John Springer, Aaron White and Allan Crouch all are new Blue Devils.

Dave Davis returns in center field for Warren but the other two positions are up for grabs, Shelton said.

"Right now we are looking at several kids," Shelton said.

As for the NSC, Shelton sees the traditional powers slugging it out.

Hart wins MVP honor

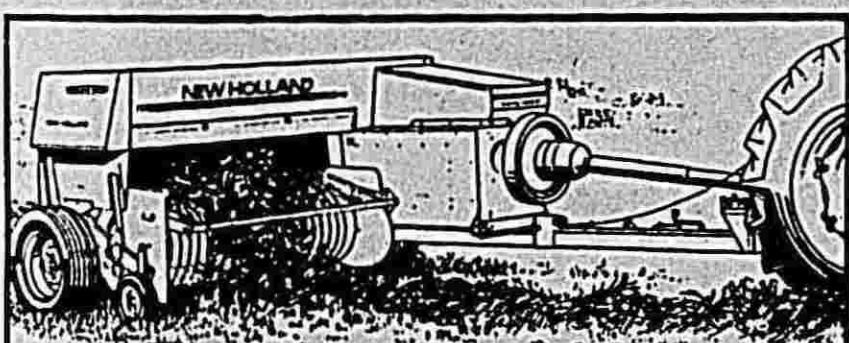

Dave Hart of Antioch was Lakeland College's top scorer and rebounder this season. He led Lakeland scorers in 19 of the Muskies' 30 games, and was the leading rebounder in 16 of them. Hart is the latest player to join the college's 1,000 point club.

All of these accomplishments and more are reasons why Hart, a junior, was selected by his teammates as the Muskies' "most valuable player" of 1987-88.

Hart tallied 538 points this past season, averaging 18.5 points per game, to increase his total to 1,032 points. He scored a season high of 39 points against Cardinal Stritch and in addition had games of 35 points (also against Stritch) and 32 points (against Milwaukee School of Engineering).

The 6-5 Hart was the team's ace rebounder with 179, good for a 6.2 average. Lake Michigan Conference coaches honored Hart by naming him as Lakeland's only representative on the all-conference team.

Talented but young Rams preparing for new '88 season

Grayslake baseball Coach Jim Haas believes one department will make or break his team.

That is pitching. "We're looking for a number one starter to emerge," Haas said as the pitchers and catchers practiced one day at Grayslake High's gym.

Senior lefthander Shawn Mauritz returns to the Grayslake lineup and is the only pre-season candidate with any experience, according to Haas.

The Rams, who are scheduled to open the season March 29 with a 10:30 a.m. home game against Stevenson, were 5-9 in the Northwest Suburban Conference, but took it on the chin in non-league games and finished with an overall record of 6-15.

"We'll be a talented team but we're inexperienced. We may start anywhere from eight to 10 juniors," Haas said of his Rams.

Haas believes one strength of his team may be the reinstitution of baseball at the freshmen level. This will be the second year the Rams have had frosh baseball and could start seeing the benefits.

Six letterwinners return for Grayslake. Mauritz is the only double-letterwinner, as he had won a letter as a sophomore. But pitching is not Mauritz's only talent, though.

"He is a good contact hitter," Haas said of the senior.

In addition to Mauritz, Pete Lupori, an all-NWSC basketball player, also returns. Haas said he could see some pitching time. "He will be a key to our team," the coach said.

Mark Bussone, another senior, is a returning letterwinner along with juniors Gary Hook, Tim Hough, Che Kearby and Jim Neumann. That group of juniors was brought up late in the season last year and saw varsity experience as sophomores.

"I hope we will see some benefits from that," Haas said.

Haas said that the lineup is an undecided one. "There is a lot of positions that are up for grabs. This is the first time since I have been here that there is competition at every position," Haas said.

The Grayslake squad has somewhat of an international flavor to it as two American Field Service students - Glenn Fitzpatrick and Frixo Messina are on the roster. Both are seniors.

Jeff Johnansen, Manny Cruz and Cory Clowers round out the seniors on the team.

Juniors also battling for starting positions are Jim Hegberg, Craig Katzenmaier, Corey Knigge, Charlie Miller, Jason LaCorix, Timm West and Jim Woyner.

The Price Of Electricity Started Dropping Last October. And Hasn't Stopped.

The cost per unit of electricity in northern Illinois just dropped for the 6th straight month. This time, by about 10%. And that means for the 6th straight month you saved money on your electric bill. A look at the fuel adjustment credit on your monthly statement will tell you just how much.

Costs first dropped last October. November saw a decrease of more than 5%, while December costs were as much as 8% lower. Both January and February savings reached more than 9%.

The months ahead will bring even more reductions. Overall, you, our northern Illinois customers, will see savings totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

The reason is, in terms of fuel cost, our nuclear generating plants can produce electricity up to 75% more economically than traditional coal-burning facilities. And those savings are passed on to you.

So even though these nuclear plants helped us meet your all-time record electrical demand both last summer and this winter, the big story isn't how much electricity they can generate.

It's how much savings.
